BERNARD FEENEY JR.

Four Ballots Before Final Decision

Feeney GOP Judge Choice

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Bernard Feeney Jr. got the word of his Republican nomination for Family Court Judge over his bedside telephone in the Albany Medical Center about 11 p.m. Thursday.

While he was sweating out a pinched nerve in his neck, his five opponents for the nomination and the more than 200 committeemen attending the Ulster County GOP convention, to pick a nominee from a field of six, had to sweat out three hours and four ballots before they could come up with a winner. The convention was held at the George Washington School.

Feeney, who led all five contenders in each of the four balloting, needed the fourth ballot to attain a majority, in this case 109 votes. Feeney received 118 on the last ballot.

Feeney's toughest opponent was Richard Overbaugh of Saugerties who held the second place position in each of the four votes and Richard Griggs ran third. Joseph Saccoman of Kingston was eliminated on the first ballot. Seymour Werbalowsky was eliminated after the second ballot and Sherwood Davis was dropped from the balloting after the third tally.

Feeney's brother Edward "Ted" Feeney, former city chairman, accepted the nomination on behalf of the candidate, who is a Kingston lawyer with the firm of Rusk, Rusk and Feeney and who resides in the Town of Ulster.

County Republican Chairman Albert Spada hailed the use of voting machines as "the best thing we ever did." He said, as did many others during nominating speeches, that all candidates were well qualified and it was up to the committeemen to choose whom they wanted. It was the first time voting machines were employed at a GOP caucus.

Feeney was nominated by former Surrogate Francis X. Tucker and his nomination was seconded by State Sen. Richard Schermerhorn.

The balloting went like this: first ballot, Feeney, 59; Overbaugh, 44; Griggs, 39; Werbalowsky, 25; Davis, 30; Saccoman, 17.

Second ballot: Feeney, 77; Overbaugh, 55; Griggs, 38; Davis, 25; Werbalowsky, 20.

Third ballot: Feeney, 93; Overbaugh, 57; Griggs, 38 and Davis, 29.

Fourth ballot: Feeney, 118; Overbaugh, 56 and Griggs, 39. Both Griggs and Overbaugh addressed the convention after Feeney's victory had been determined and asked that the vote be made unanimous for Feeney.

Schermerhorn spoke to the group briefly as did Assemblyman H. Clark Bell who said that the introduction of private, secret voting machines allows every man to vote his conscience giving each candidate "a fair chance". Free, open balloting gives strength, credibility and faith in the Republican party, he said.

Overbaugh was nominated by Donald McCaig, Saugerties Town GOP Chairman and the nomination was seconded by County Attorney Abram Molyneux.

Griggs was nominated by State Committeewoman Mrs. Doris Stang and the nomination was seconded by Sol Rosenthal.

Sherwood Davis was nominated by John Gottelli with Frank Berryann seconding the nomination and Seymour Werbalowsky was nominated by Robert Ronder with a second coming from Robert LaQuette.

Brendon Alexander nominated Joseph Saccoman with former District Attorney Joseph Torrace making the seconding speech.

Feeney is a graduate of Kingston High School, Fordham University and Albany Law School. He was associated with Howard C. St. John in general practice during 1953-54 and for the past 12 years has been a partner in Rusk, Rusk and Feeney.

He was special city judge in 1963-65 and served as special prosecuting attorney for the Ulster County District Attorney's office on numerous occasions during 1953-54. He served three years as a member of the City Charter Revision Commission and two years as chairman.

New City Treasurer To Be Named Monday

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON

Mayor Francis R. Koenig is expected to name a new city treasurer on Monday. The appointee will replace Thomas R. Lyle, who resigned 11 days ago because of "very pressing, urgent, and trying personal matters."

With the anticipated appointment of a new city treasurer Monday, only one vacancy will remain in an office that has been rocked by scandal and arrests in recent months.

When he resigned on Aug.

6, Lyle emphasized that his departure was in no way connected to the problems that have beset the office since June. In his letter of resignation, Lyle said he had been "beset by personal problems, absolutely unrelated to my work as city treasurer."

Koenig said on August 6 that Lyle's resignation came as a complete surprise, and that he was not aware of the nature of Lyle's problems.

Former city treasurer Orrie R. Riehl was immediately named by Koenig to serve as acting city treasurer until a permanent replacement was named. He is expected to remain in that capacity until Koenig's newest appointment takes effect on Monday.

In his letter of resignation, Lyle told Koenig that he had delayed his announcement until problems in the treasurer's office were cleared up. He said on August 6, "We now have the investigation completed and the auditor's report in and certain persons under accusation for what has occurred there."

Lyle continued, "I have for sometime been beset by personal problems, absolutely unrelated to my work as city treasurer. These problems make it necessary for me at this time, and despite the shortage of help in the office, to offer you herewith my resignation, effective immediately, as treasurer of the City of Kingston."

What "occurred" at the treasurer's office was a routine audit earlier this year that disclosed a shortage in tax monies apparently paid in cash but never entered in the city's books.

An investigation was immediately launched, and resulted in the June 4 arrest of John Houghtaling, the principal account clerk in the treasurer's office. Houghtaling was charged with the alleged theft of a $493.74 check and about $50 in parking meter revenues. The case has been referred to the grand jury.

On Tuesday, Koenig appointed Charles Halemann to fill the post of principal account clerk, which was created when Houghtaling resigned after his June 5 arrest.

Two days after Houghtaling's arrest, city police charged 30-year-old Gary Stafford, a clerk in the treasurer's office, with third degree grand larceny, involving the disappearance of between $250 and $1,500. Lyle fire Stafford immediately; that position still remains vacant.

The final arrest occurred June 20, when Fred Manuel, also a clerk in the treasurer's office, was charged with petit larceny. Police charged that Manuel stole $201.36 from the treasurer's office, but his case was later dismissed in City Court. Koenig said Manuel's position in the treasurer's office had already been filled prior to the dismissal of charges, and he said the man would not be rehired.

Lyle was appointed city treasurer on Dec. 29, 1972. His replacement will serve until the end of this year, and then will be subject to reappointment when the city mayor begins a new two-year term on Jan. 1, 1974.

DON'T MESS WITH THE GURU—Pat Halley (L), an anti-establishment Detroit reporter who admitted tossing a shaving cream pie into the face of the youthful Guru Maharaj Ji on August 7 (sequence right), was reported in serious condition Thursday with multiple head injuries sustained during a severe beating sometime Wednesday.

Later, the two somber bodyguards flanking the Guru in the photos at right were arrested by Detroit police and charged with the beating. Followers of the Guru said they had obtained confessions from the assailants, and held them in custody until police picked them up. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Doria Death Trap

FAIRHAVEN, Mass. (UPI)

A team of divers Thursday abandoned its month-long quest to recover $2 million in riches believed aboard the luxury liner Andrea Doria, which sank 17 years ago when it collided with the Swedish vessel Stockholm, killing 51 persons.

The recovery mission, which cost at least $250,000, was abruptly ended Thursday when a trio of divers who had managed to cut into the sunken vessel two days earlier found access to the ship's purser's office all but impossible. "One long wall was badly buckled and there was a lot of wreckage in there—twisted steel and wooden beams," support diver Tim Kelley said. "We decided it was a death trap, and we weren't going to send them in there."

Crewmen also said weather conditions were becoming increasingly dangerous.

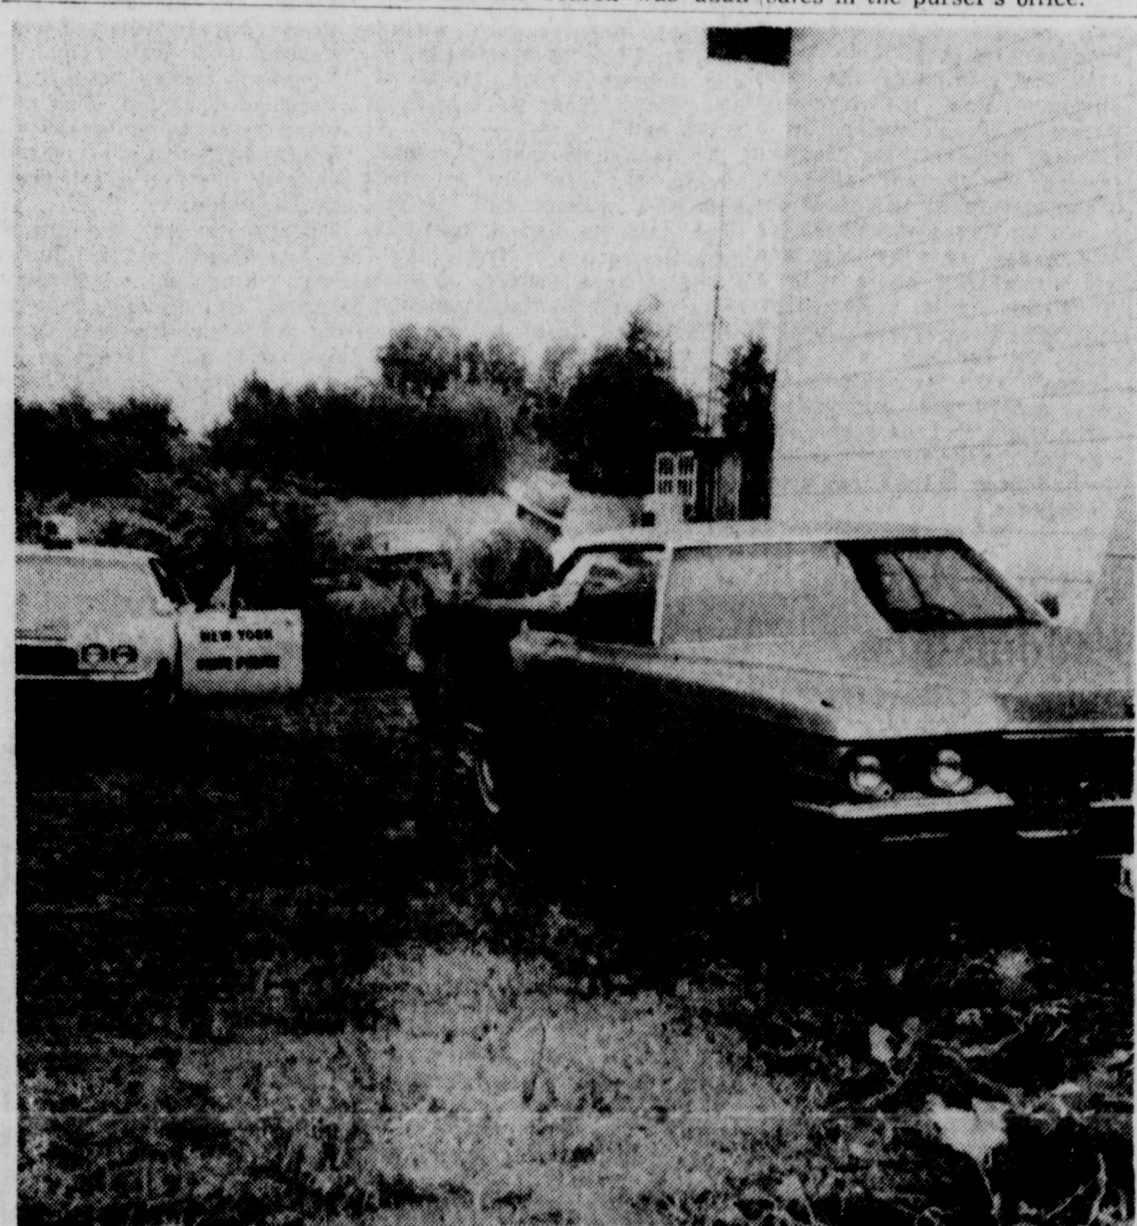

The support ship Narragansett steamed back to this Atlantic Ocean port today, towing an underwater living chamber used as a home base for the search at the ocean bottom. Divers Chris DeLucchi, and Donald Rodocker, both of San Diego, and photographer Bob Hollis remain in the habitat, affectionately known as "Mother," undergoing decompression.

Before the search was abandoned, divers recovered some valuables, but crewmen refuse to detail what they are. Any booty may be subject to a court fight, and one crewman said there was a concern of "piracy" attempts on the trawler's return to Fairhaven.

No newsmen have been allowed aboard the Narragansett, and all reports on the progress of the expedition have been made over ship-to-shore radio by members of the salvage team.

Most of the $1.1 million in cash and nearly $1 million more in art objects, jewelry and other valuables, however, are believed located in four safes in the purser's office.

Stolen Cadillac Recovered

State Trooper G. G. Henne looks over a stolen 1971 Cadillac valued at about $5,000 found in Ulster Park Thursday by State Police as part of their continuing investigation of a huge interstate stolen car ring apparently centered in Ulster County. Five persons have been arrested in connection with the car thefts, including two Port Ewen residents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Holmes of 181 Salem Street. Police said today that due to the large number of cars being recovered along the Eastern seaboard, they could give no definite up to date figures on the recoveries. The latest figures showed more than 40 vehicles valued in excess of $100,000 recovered. (Freeman photo by Powell)

Who Would Steal a Foghorn From the River Lighthouse?

KINGSTON

Believe it or not... it's true. Someone went to the trouble to travel by boat to break into the Kingston Lighthouse to steal something which apparently is of no value to them. And they broke a federal law in the process.

It could be said that their minds must have been foggy... in which case the object they stole—a fog horn—might prove useful after all.

But it would be of more use to the U.S. Coast Guard, to warn ships on the Hudson River.

"It's of no value to anyone but the Coast Guard," Chief

Jack Keasler, officer in charge of the Saugerties Coast Guard Station, said of the missing horn.

But the thief or thieves went to an awful lot of trouble sometime during the five days preceding Wednesday when the theft was discovered, to get the horn.

The only approach to the Kingston Lighthouse is by water. "We're definitely assuming a boat of some sort was used," Keasler said.

And the person or persons who went to the lighthouse also apparently took the trouble to carry tools. According to Keasler, tools were used to break the lock on the door. And tools were used to carefully unscrew the fog horn, which was bolted down on the lighthouse porch.

Some minor vandalism was also done, Keasler said.

The lighthouse is federal property, and whoever stole the fog horn could be in for big trouble. The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) is working on the case, although they would not comment on their investigation.

Officials said the person or persons who stole the horn, valued at $2,000 by the Coast Guard, are subject to up to a $10,000 fine or a ten-year prison term, or both.

All for stealing something only of value to the Coast Guard.

Meanwhile, the Coast Guard has to order a new fog horn, and it could take a month to get, according to Keasler.

During that time, according to Keasler, a dangerous situation may exist. "In fog, without a fog horn, a tanker could easily run aground and there would be a pollution problem like Kingston has never seen before," Keasler said.

He urged anyone who might have information about the theft to contact the police. He also urged the thief or thieves to return the much-needed fog horn.

"These people don't realize the danger they've put vessels into," Keasler said.

'The Year of the Mosquito' in Ulster

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

"Summertime is itchy time" but Ulster County residents don't need to be reminded of that because, "this is the year of the mosquito!" according to local Health Department officials who report that 29 mosquitos a minute are landing and biting people... even in the daytime.

In one area—Glasco Turnpike in Woodstock, the mosquitos were landing and biting so fast that Ulster County's mosquito control force couldn't count them.

Marbletown residents, too, report they can't swat the elusive antagonists fast enough.

Complaints about the mosquito population explosion are coming in from all over, according to Otis McDonald, who is in charge of county spraying of county roadsides and areas infested with them. Campground owners in particular find that this year's mosquito infiltration was beginning to hurt their business until spraying on a continual basis was initiated by them.

"This is the worst mosquito year of this century," McDonald said, due to the high water table.

Temporary ponds which usually dry up in July are being constantly replenished providing excellent breeding places for mosquitos. Permanent ponds on the other hand are ecologically balanced with insects and fish eating the larvae of the mosquito.

Even water in old tires and tin cans is proving a problem this year when one considers that the female mosquito lays from 2,000 to 4,000 eggs at a time and a mosquito can produce eggs every 10 days after having a blood meal (a bite of someone).

McDonald explained that they are advising people to drain swampy areas or make them into permanent ponds.

were coming from two temporary pond areas is converting them to permanent ones in that order to alleviate the situation. "When you destroy the breeding places, there will be no more mosquitos," McDonald said.

The department is also telling people to empty those old tires and tin cans of water, and to secure foggers and fog material from local retailers for spraying mosquito infested areas.

Mosquito control workers have a surveillance program too in which Steve Mones of Kingston collects mosquitos at night by employing the use of light bulbs. Members of the department also suck mosquitos off their skin with a siphon in order to send samples to the State Health Department at Albany to determine what kind they are and what type of swamp they were hatched in.

Do they get bitten often? "Sometimes, but not very much," McDonald said. And, if the mosquito problem is a pain in the neck or wherever else she may bite you (males don't bite), it is also a problem that involves more than simple bites. Mosquitos carry such killers as malaria, dengue fever, yellow fever and the encephalitic family of diseases, the last of which is the most serious locally.

So far there have been no reports of encephalitis this year but the Health Department does expect some reports from doctors before the end of 1973.

Ulster County Mosquito Control surveyed 115 sites in June and treated, fogged and seeded more than 60 acres and sprayed more than 90 miles of roadsides.

Among sites treated were Rte. 28A, Morgan Hill Road, Saugerties Village and Cantine Field, Frog Hollow at the junctions of the towns of Hurley, Rosendale and Town of Ulster, also Hurley Recreation Drive, DeWitt Mills Road, Wayside and Woodland Drives, Hurley.

Similar programs were undertaken in July and are continuing in August.

Two Men Jailed For Extortion

CATSKILL, N.Y. (AP)—Two New York City men were jailed in Greene County today on extortion and grand larceny charges police said stemmed from the mailing of a false bomb to a man in Tannersville. James Corbett, 30, and Harry Zaratsian, 31, were arrested in New York City Thursday night by State Police from the Leeds station. They were arraigned in Catskill town court on charges of first degree grand larceny and extortion and jailed pending further action.

A police spokesman said the pair allegedly mailed a false bomb to the man and threatened that they would send a real bomb if he did not give them $50,000.

Three Spray Adhesives Face Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Consumer Products Safety Commission today called for a halt in the sale of three spray adhesives it claims may be linked to birth defects. Commission Chairman Richard O. Simpson identified the products as "Foil Art Spray Adhesive" and "Scotch Brand Spray-Ment," both manufactured by the 3M Co. of St. Paul, Minn., and "Krylon Spray Adhesive" manufactured by the Borden Co. of Columbus, Ohio.

Company spokesmen were not available for immediate comment.

The sprays are generally sold for home arts and crafts purposes, the commission said.

In a statement, the federal agency said the three aerosol adhesives "have been possibly linked to chromosome breaks which could cause multiple birth defects in some offspring."

A commission spokesman said it was hoped the manufacturers would voluntarily recall their products and that court action would not be necessary to stop sale of the products.

The spokesman, Ron Eisenberg, director of public affairs for the commission, said the

Magruder 'Comfortable' After Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jeb Stuart Magruder, a key aide in President Nixon's campaign last year, says he feels "comfortable" after pleading guilty to conspiracy in the Watergate affair.

"I feel as good as you can under the circumstances," Magruder said Thursday a short time after he entered the plea in U. S. District Court. "I decided it was best to plead guilty to the charges as stated, and I feel comfortable having done so."

The charges against Magruder accused him of conspiring to tap the telephones of the Democratic National Committee, hampering the investigation, concealing evidence and lying under oath. The information filed against Magruder by special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox also accused him of taking part in a conspiracy to "misrepresent that the Central Intelligence Agency had an interest in limiting the investigation."

Magruder, 38, who was deputy director of the Nixon re-election committee in 1972, stood at parade rest as he entered his plea before Chief U. S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica.

"I plead guilty," Magruder said in a quiet voice. Sirica postponed indefinitely the sentencing of Magruder and released him on his own recognizance.

Magruder was the second high Nixon campaign official to plead guilty to conspiracy charges. The first was Frederick C. LaRue, an aide to campaign director John N. Mitchell, who entered his plea June 27.

Both LaRue and Magruder will be government witnesses at forthcoming Watergate trials. Sirica said he would not sentence either man until the trials are over. Conspiracy carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison, a $10,000 fine or both.

James F. Neal, an assistant to Cox, said the prosecutor had decided to accept Magruder's plea to a single conspiracy count instead of indicting him on other charges because Magruder had come to prosecutors voluntarily in April to spell out his role in the scandal. "Of course, if you're going to have a trial, you've got to have witnesses," Neal told reporters. Indictments against other figures in the case are not expected for several more weeks.

Last Move On the Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's lawyers prepared today to file their final written argument before next week's courtroom debate on the White House Watergate tapes.

U. S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica gave the President's lawyers until today to respond to Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox's contention that Nixon has "an enforceable legal duty" to give the tape recordings to the Watergate grand jury.

In an earlier legal brief, White House lawyers argued that the courts lack the power to compel a president to do anything. The Nixon brief said that if Cox succeeded in forcing the President to obey the prosecutor's subpoena "the damage to the institution of the presidency will be severe and irreparable."

In his speech to the nation Wednesday, Nixon reiterated his determination to withhold the tapes of his conversations. Their existence was disclosed last month at the Senate Watergate hearings. Nixon said the "principle of confidentiality of presidential conversations is at stake in the question of the tapes. I must and shall oppose any efforts to destroy this principle which is so vital to the conduct of the presidency."

Nixon said disclosure of the tapes "would cripple all future presidents by inhibiting conversations between them and those they look to for advice."

In his 68-page brief, Cox rejected that argument, saying, "There will be few occasions upon which a grand jury will have similar cause to believe there may be material evidence of the criminality of high officials in the papers and documents in the executive office of the president."

"The aides of future presidents are not likely to be timid because of this remote danger of disclosure."

investigation indicated some indictments may be returned shortly in the probe that began last December as an investigation of Baltimore County officials and engineering firms.

Agnew, who was notified two weeks ago he was under investigation for possible violations of bribery, extortion, conspiracy and tax laws, has labeled as "damned lies" the allegations he had accepted kick-backs. Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen came here from Washington Thursday, his second unannounced visit with Beall. He sat in on an interview with a Maryland businessman who reportedly implicated Agnew in an alleged bribery and kickback scheme. Both Petersen and Beall declined comment on the investigation into alleged kickbacks and political corruption in Maryland in the last decade—before, during and after Agnew was governor.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 17, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The danger threatening our nation today is not one that can be repulsed by taking down our muskets from the mantle and joining the colors.

Our belief in ourselves is unraveling under the stresses of shattering scandals, breakdowns and breaches of faith in high places. A sense of things gone wrong pervades the land, of values lost, of anger against those who symbolize that loss. Whatever it was we were trying to do together, whatever it was we once stood for, is dissolving into uncertainty and disillusion.

The only cures for lost identity are rediscovery and rededication. What is our national purpose? What is the source and measure of our patriotism?

NO TRADITIONAL BONDS
Americans cannot find their answers in the traditional bonds that glue other nations together — the bonds of time and homogeneity. "A thousand years scarce serve to form a state," said Winston Churchill. America has had but 200.

Other patriotisms are built upon a common race and ethnic origin, a common mother tongue, the same religion, a traditional music, culture and cuisine, even a shared hatred of neighboring nationalities, a pride of ancestry that can be traced back half a millennium.

Our people are made up of diverse nationalities that are traditional enemies, of a babble of mother tongues, a score or religions that have warred against one another.

Most of us can't trace our ancestors back further than some foreign wharf or railway depot and few would want to, for we are a nation descended from outcasts, escapees and bondsmen — the impoverished, starving and persecuted of the world. Even within our borders, we are a nation of wanderers, ever on the move from state to state.

LINCOLN'S ANSWER

What could possibly unite and give purpose to such a kaleidoscopic populace? Abraham Lincoln had an answer: common belief in the ideas on which the nation was founded.

Every person has freedoms and rights no one can justly take away — to pursue the path his abilities take him, to acquire knowledge without hindrance, to come and go as he pleases, to enjoy the fruits of his own labor, to be judged and rewarded on his merits, to speak his mind without fear, to worship in his own way, to be secure in his home, to be considered innocent of crime until fairly proved guilty.

Our national purpose was to show that people could live and flourish in freedom, and thus to furnish an example for oppressed peoples everywhere to emulate.

Now the beliefs that bind us are eroding. For many, personal freedom has been degraded into a license to seek cheap thrills and an excuse to escape from duty.

BLOATED UP

Government has been transformed into an instrument, not for safeguarding but for obtaining special favors at general expense. The federal establishment has been bloated up beyond recognition. It claims "inherent powers," wages secret wars, proclaims the right to lie to us, break into our homes, open our mail and tap our telephones.

There are many signs today of a hunger in the land for old truths. The time is at hand to turn this inchoate yearning into a movement of national regeneration.

In 1976, we shall celebrate our national bicentennial. Two years ago, the federal establishment took charge of making the arrangements for this momentous event. As usual, Washington operators turned it into a boondoggle.

Why not take it back from the government?

Suggestions occur by the dozens. Families might begin again to tell their children of the codes of George Washington and Benjamin Franklin.

Television networks might give us more programs like "The Waltons."

PLATFORM SEARCH
Political clubs might undertake a search, if they dare, to see if any resemblance can be found between their party platforms and the precepts of Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln.

Taxpayers' groups could wrap in the flag the forgotten virtue of frugality.

Corporations and cooperatives could conduct seminars to measure how far they have sold out the rights of free enterprise for the government subsidy.

Unions could sponsor efforts to regain the lost American supremacy in workmanship and productivity.

Bar associations might stiffen ethical standards.

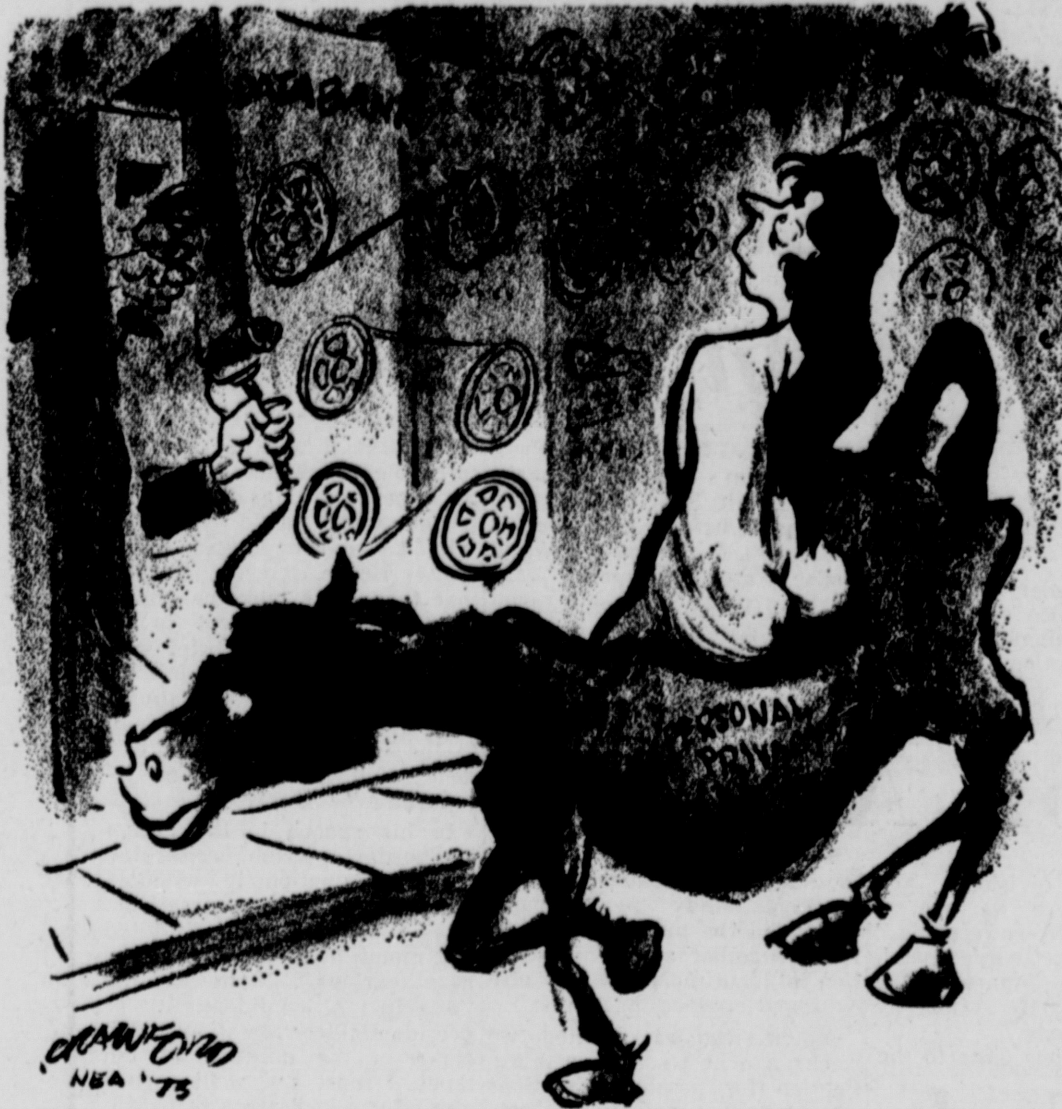

Journalists might resolve to do something about the chief censors of the truth — their lassitude and their editors.

My friend Hank Meyer, the sage of Miami Beach, has proposed a theme: "I Love America." There are 200 million ways to say "I Love America" and an awesome need that each of us say it in his own words. If the words are to be true, they must come, not from the ad agencies, not from government promoters, but from the hearts of the people.

China and Watergate

By ROWLAND EVANS and
ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The first, potentially disastrous result abroad of President Nixon's Watergate catastrophe is now being felt with stinging impact in the collapse of his Cambodian policy and, more important, in the sudden awareness by Peking that the American connection is shot through with dangerous unpredictables.

The reaction in Peking to Mr. Nixon's worst time of troubles is still to a large extent ambiguous, shrouded in the minds of China's cold-eyed policymakers. These men regard the new American connection as having only one justification: as a counterweight to the power and hostility of the Soviet Union.

But not all the signs are completely ambiguous. Thus, the delay in Sen. Mike Mansfield's much-heralded second trip to Peking was specifically due to a polite but non-sensational warning from Communist authorities there that this was not a propitious time.

The reason for that, it now appears certain, is that the special usefulness of Mansfield, as perceived in Peking, was his own special relationship with Prince Sihanouk, the ousted Cambodian monarch and Mansfield's old friend.

At the time Mansfield, the Senate majority leader, was originally asked to make his second visit to Peking, Communist China was looking to the Sihanouk option as the most promising of all the limited possibilities for settling the Cambodian civil war on terms not totally unacceptable to Peking.

The restoration of the mystic, playboy prince, the most popular figure in a country that until recently used to laugh at politics, was designed to give Peking an enduring political influence in Phnom Penh. With Sihanouk restored, and backed by both Peking and Washington, the threatening growth of power throughout the Indochina peninsula by North Vietnam would be at least temporarily stopped.

Moreover, precisely some such political deal with Sihanouk was what Mr. Nixon has been plotting for months. Indeed, there is solid reason to believe that if Congress, in its unprecedented action of June 30, had not forced a bombing ban on the President, the U.S. and China could have contrived just such an end to the Cambodian sector of the Indochina war by mid-September.

It was to prepare the way for such a settlement that Mansfield was needed in Peking. Likewise, it was to bargain for just such a settlement that Mr. Nixon had ordered his ace foreign policy expert, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, to go to Peking early this month. That journey, along with Mansfield's, will now not take place this month.

Imagine, then, how the cold-eyed rulers of Communist China must be reacting to the sudden discovery that President Nixon's freedom of action to negotiate has been undermined — in this case, by the bombing ban. Continuation of the bombing was judged no less in Peking than in Washington as an essential part of the complicated formula to slow the pro-Hanoi "Khmer Rouge" Communist revolutionary movement in Cambodia, paving the way for Prince Sihanouk.

Suddenly, Peking's clandestine ally in this complex political maneuver, Richard M. Nixon, is crippled not by foreign influence but by his own Congress reacting to growing presidential weakness induced by Watergate.

In Peking, the political ravages of Watergate are probably perceived with the same disbelief that guided U.S. policymakers during the ravages of the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution in China in the late 1960s.

"Would Washington have made its political connection with Peking at the height of the cultural revolution?" one top Nixon lieutenant asks rhetorically. "When no one could even predict that the rulers of China would remain rulers for even another month?"

Or, as another White House aide put it sarcastically, Peking must wonder how the party that was repudiated in a historical landslide last November now finds its policies accepted in Congress, while the big winner, President Nixon, becomes the big loser.

Nothing has happened yet to destroy the short-term durability of the Washington-Peking axis. Its foundation — Peking's fear of Moscow — has not changed an iota.

But hideous dangers lie behind the ambiguities of subtle change in the way Peking — and all other nations — must now be studying the trust and durability of the U.S. as an ally. These are dangers blithely ignored by the faithless who gave the nation Watergate.

Coalition Tryout

Laos now offers the rare chance to compare fact with theory, and waking with dreaming. The kind of government that South Vietnam's President Thieu will have none of—coalition with the Communists—has come to pass in Laos.

If there were one, principal argument against coalition, it would seem to be that the Communists are generally eager for coalition's share, and foot in the door, of a country's administration. (How else would the Communists have copied, say, Czechoslovakia?)

Already the Communist cause in Laos has been treated tenderly in at least two respects.

Outside supporters of the till now legitimate Laotian government must quit the country. (That includes Americans and American-paid Thai mercenaries.) Those outside supporters of the Communist Pathet Lao—the North Vietnamese—may stay because Hanoi has never admitted its legions were in Laos.

Also undisturbed is the substantial Laotian link of the Ho Chi Minh Trail. The old Laotian administration is buying its own shaky peace without regard for South Vietnam's chances for peace—not abetted by the trail's free-ride through Laos.

At the outset the scales on the face of it seem to favor the traditional Laos government of Souvanna Phouma. While the Pathet Lao hold eighty per cent of the land, two-thirds of the population occupy areas under the non-Communist aegis.

Importantly, too, the Communists were deprived of that favorite ministry of theirs, Interior. Since this is the seat of the police, including that totalitarian nicety, Secret Police, Communists have always grabbed for it.

A Red will head the foreign ministry, something that will be interesting to watch. The rightists managed to hold the defense and finance reins.

Souvanna, actually a neutralist between the rightists and Reds, will head the new government. Immediate to him in power will be Prince Souphanouvong, his half-brother, but the Pathet Lao's leader.

The Laos coalition experiment may work (but no bets, here). The importance is the shadow it casts on Saigon. It is a model that Nguyen Thieu rejects.

If coalition succeeds in Laos, then Thieu may have the war's prolongation to answer for. But if the Communists use coalition to gobble Laos, Thieu can point his I-told-you-so.

Pay by Electronics

With 26 billion paper checks written each year—500 million a week—and the number increasing to 54 billion by 1985, or more than 1 billion a week, the Federal Government is about to start a test of checkless pay by electronic means in the hope of eliminating, or drastically reducing the paper checks and the paper work to a minimum.

The test will be made up of make-believe electronic pay checks for 20,000 Air Force personnel over two pay periods this fall. The Air Force will put on a single magnetic tape the amount of pay and other pay check information for participating personnel. The tape will be sent to a district Federal Reserve Bank. In turn, the bank will sort the pay check information and deliver it to the individual commercial banks where the personnel have their accounts. The commercial banks will use the electronically sorted information to simulate pay deposits to the accounts of the personnel.

If successful, the Federal Government may eventually pay all its personnel by electronic means. It would reduce the overall cost of making payments, prevent the check volume from becoming so large as to clog and disrupt the nation's payment system, and eventually lead to nearly all electronic banking, with families making electronic payments and deposits from their homes.

"Remember when 'going through a phase' referred to kids, and didn't have anything to do with the economy?"

Jocko Had His Rye Feelings Go Away

The alcoholic leads the field in self-inflicted wounds. He hits himself on the head with a bottle every day. He will assure you that the pain on his skull is not as terrifying as when he stops doing it. The best man at my wedding was a quart-a-day man. I once had a mother-in-law with two anchors: a pint of gin; a rosary wrapped around it. I knew an old Brooklyn lady who never drank a drop until she was 89. After that, she hit the family entrance of a saloon every morning and every evening. No one knows why. The bartender said that, for 89 years, she never drank a drop; from then until age 94, she never dropped a drink. Conversely, there are certain perils in sobriety. My friend Toots Shor broke his leg twice when he was sober. Most of the bright entertaining boozers I know became as dull as Trappist monks when they joined AA. There are exceptions, of course. Art Barker, for example, burned his talents into an excellent program called The Seed, the most successful and proliferating school for turning youth away from narcotics.

He's been sober so long that only he knows the number of years. This goes for Jocko McCormick too, a huge Boston Irishman who sells Canteen food services to sports palaces around the country. In an unguarded moment one morning, I asked McCormick if he would like to have a drink. He smiled. "You do that," he said, "and I will turn your nice Chinese house into a parking lot in twenty minutes."

Jocko once won $16,000 at a New England racetrack. He asked a buddy to hang onto the money until he was broke. When he put out his big mitt, the friend said: "The 16 big ones? I gave that to your mother a week ago." It's like putting cash in a White House shredder.

He begged Momma for the dough. No, she said, she knew her son would blow the poke on liquor. He begged. He pleaded. Mother relented and gave him $2,000, and hid the rest.

McCormick disappeared. In eight days he was back in Framingham. He was busted down to his shoelaces. "Now, John," she said in a motherly misunderstanding of the point, "how could you spend $2,000 in a week?"

"It wasn't easy," he said, tilting his head to see if the load of gravel was shifting. "I went to New York and hit all the good bars and bought drinks for everybody. Then I found I was popular with some strange women. Mom. The rest of it went on foolish things: new underwear, a suit of clothes, and shoes."

Mrs. McCormick — a jury of one—found him guilty and held onto the money. The drinker resists Alcoholics Anonymous as a painful cure to a sickness he never had. He can stop whenever he wants to; he never wants to.

The last stop came to Jocko 15 years ago. It was a Friday morning. Mr. Mack awakened on his palette of pain and dwelled upon the irrelevancy that he had not eaten in two days. His stomach was empty; so was his wallet. He washed, dressed, and put on the spurious smile for his friends at a local pub.

He was happy to find that four of the men leaning against the bar were close friends. "I haven't eaten in two days," he confided to Buddy number one. "Lend me two bucks and I'll go next door and get some ham and eggs."

To the career drinker, food is anathema. McCormick was pleading for two bucks: what he got in return was an offer of a double scotch. He hesitated, and almost lost the transfusion. Braver, he tried the second friend, who protested that he too was dry of cash, but had credit at the bar. By the time Mack reached the fourth friend, begging for ham and eggs, he wasn't sure that a hearty breakfast was any good for a healthy man.

By the time he returned to number one it was a beautiful day with sparkling sunlight fighting the fly specks on the saloon window. "I am still tapped out," he whispered hoarsely. Jocko's friend turned on his smile of pity. "I told you I was broke," he said. "I'm not. I was afraid that you might buy eggs with my money. Here's a sawbuck. It's your turn to buy a round of drinks."

That was the day Mack turned away from the sauce. He became an upright, exemplary husband and father, a highly intelligent man. The bar flies said: "He'll be back." It never happened. Jocko and I were playing Rolling Hills golf course. We looked like a couple of unfrocked altar boys.

"What did your mother do with the fourteen thou?" I asked, topping a tee shot. "She gave it back — a little at a time." "Ah," I said, "it would make a great finish to the story if she bought herself a saloon." . . .

Brooklyn Girl Killed in Napanoch Mishap

NAPANOCH to the path of a car driven by Miklos Schreiber, 25, of Brooklyn, who had just turned into the parking lot.

The girl was pronounced dead on arrival at Ellenville Community Hospital. She suffered massive head injuries, police said.

The mishap occurred at 5:40 p. m. No summonses were issued, police said.

Meanwhile, in Kingston early today two persons were injured when the car in which they were riding overturned and crashed into a stone wall in front of the George Washington School on Wall Street. The driver was issued four vehicle and traffic summonses and a passenger was arrested on a drug charge.

City police said the car, being driven by George M. Sloven, 25, of Brooklyn, was traveling west on Henry Street at a high rate of speed at about 1:10 a. m. when it went through stop signs at the intersections of Henry and Fair Streets and Henry and Wall Streets. The car failed to negotiate the turn at the last intersection, skidded sideways into the curb and overturned against the wall, police said.

George Sloven and Thomas F. Sloven, 18, of Brooklyn, were both injured. Thomas Sloven was treated and released at Kingston Hospital. George Sloven was listed in satisfactory condition there today. Both were transported to the hospital by Doctor's Ambulance.

George Sloven was issued summonses for driving while intoxicated, speed not reasonable, and passing through two stop signs.

At the hospital, a third passenger in the Sloven car, Richard Budgett, 17, of Brooklyn, was arrested on a charge of possession of dangerous drugs in the sixth degree, when police observed a quantity of alleged marijuana in his possession while he was waiting for his injured companions. He was also charged with public intoxication.

A car-motorcycle accident on Springtown Road in the Town of Rosendale Thursday afternoon resulted in injuries to the drivers of both vehicles.

Harry McKelvy III of RD 2, Box 265, New Paltz, the operator of the motorcycle, was transported to Benedictine Hospital by Don's Ambulance. He was listed in fair condition at the hospital today. Sidney Feldman of 35 Dug Road, New Paltz, was treated and released at the hospital.

McKelvy was issued summonses for operating without insurance, operating an unregistered motor vehicle, no helmet and failure to keep right by Hurley State Police. Details of the mishap were not immediately available.

City School Site Hearings Planned

KINGSTON The proposed location of a new high school on a 100-acre tract of land off Delaware Avenue—which has already been rejected by the Kingston Planning Board—will be the subject of two public meetings scheduled by the Board of Education of the Kingston Consolidated School District. The school board will hold an informational meeting September 13 at 7:30 p. m. at the Kingston High School auditorium. It is expected that the school board will detail its reasons for selecting the Delaware Avenue site, and explain why numerous other locations in and around the city have been deemed unsatisfactory.

Then, on September 20, the school board will hold a legally required public hearing, beginning at 7:30 p. m. at the George Washington School. District residents will be given the opportunity to express their views on a location for a new high school.

The Planning Board unanimously rejected the Delaware Avenue site earlier this month. It cited "unfair" and "burdensome" costs of supporting services, concern for site engineering and safety factors because of the elevation of the proposed site and an inadequate street system in the vicinity of the proposed site. In general, the Planning Board said the need to establish the new school within the city (as opposed to surrounding townships) has not been established.

It is expected that the school board will formally answer the planning board's objections sometime before the September 13 hearing.

According to state education law, the school board has the legal authority to act contrary to the Planning Board's recommendations, provided that a public hearing is held (Sept. 20) and that two-thirds of the board members (six of the nine) vote in favor of the site after the hearing.

Rhinebeck Developer Details 'Farms Phase'

RHINEBECK village business offered first priority in taking spaces). An industrial park area is planned on a 70-acre site, and Weingarten said that a branch of the First National Bank of Red Hook has expressed interest, as well as possibly a research office.

A private sewerage plant would be a necessity, since there are none in the area to join. No indication has been given on where the development intends to procure water.

Weingarten has estimated that Phase I of the project would yield about 935 school children. Two sites have been reserved in the plans for school buildings, which the developer would build and then lease back to the district.

Weingarten said that the difference between his project and the one proposed by Douglas Palermo, "Ferncliff," is that his will more than carry its share of the tax burden, whereas Palermo's would have a negative tax impact.

Figures released as estimates of tax yield by the developer are $250,000 in 1975; $574,000 in 1977; $903,000 in 1978; and more than $1 million in 1980.

He claimed that this would result in a "substantial decrease in taxes for all homeowners." Weingarten and Neuberger are presently the largest taxpayers in the Town of Rhinebeck, as well as the largest landowners.

He said that Rhinebeck Farms will require only police and fire services, and will maintain its own utilities and roads.

Speaking of financing, Weingarten said that this would be accomplished by a "consortium of banks," with Red Hook and Rhinebeck banks able to participate to the extent that their assets permit.

City Rec Program Closes

KINGSTON The Kingston City Recreation Department summer playground program came to a close today at noon, Recreation Department head Andrew J. Murphy III announced.

At that time playground supervisors returned all equipment to Recreation Department officials at the municipal auditorium.

"This concluded an exciting eight-week program for youngsters of the City of Kingston," activities director Ron Gabriele commented as another successful summer season drew to an end.

BRUCE PECHEUR

(UPI TELEPHOTO)

Actor, Burglar Dead In Apartment Duel

NEW YORK (UPI) — An actor whose rugged face graced advertisements in fashionable magazines shot and killed a burglar in his Greenwich Village apartment and was himself stabbed to death Thursday, police said.

The actor, Bruce Pecheur, 31, who appeared in nearly 100 television commercials and several movies, fired four shots from a .38-caliber revolver at the burglar, Edward Garcia, 29, police said. The intruder, however, stumbled across the room and fatally stabbed Pecheur through the heart before he died as the actor's wife watched in horror.

Police said Garcia, a heroin addict and ex-convict with an long arrest record, sneaked into the apartment through the bathroom window and woke up Pecheur and his wife, Lucy, waving a long butcher knife in the air and demanding, "I want your money."

Then, after tying up the actor with a sheet, he forced Mrs. Pecheur into the living room, where she handed him $40, police said.

When Garcia returned to the bedroom, he was met by Pecheur, who confronted him with a .38-caliber pistol. Mrs. Pecheur said the burglar shouted, "Now, I'm going to have to hurt you," and ran across the room at the actor.

In the ensuing struggle, Garcia stabbed Pecheur in the leg, the stomach and the heart, but not before he himself was fatally shot in the chest.

Pecheur sprawled across the bed and the bandit crumpled to the floor, the butcher knife still clutched in his hand.

Pecheur, who had just returned from Alaska where he made a commercial for L and M cigarettes, appeared five years ago in Andy Warhol's movie, "Trash," and with Rita Hayworth in "The Road to Salina."

His agent, Joe Hunter of the Ford Modeling Agency, said Pecheur kept in shape with weights and barbells and often portrayed a rugged, outdoors type in commercials and advertisements.

He was photographed in advertisements in such magazines as The New Yorker, Esquire and Men's Wear.

The 2 a.m. slayings in the Pecheurs' walk-up apartment happened several hours after residents of the area staged a rally in nearby Sheridan Square to protest rising crime.

Roberta Herbert, 28, an advertising copy writer for Macy's department store, was stabbed and killed Aug. 8 in the hallway of her apartment house, just a few blocks away from Pecheur's apartment.

Gasoline Prices Remain Frozen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail gasoline prices will remain frozen at present levels until Sept. 1, the result of a second extension of the administration's price freeze on gasoline, the director of the Cost of Living Council has announced.

Except for retailers of gasoline and diesel fuel, the price freeze will be lifted from the petroleum industry at midnight Sunday, John T. Dunlop said Thursday.

The freeze on the petroleum industry was scheduled to go last week but was extended because oil regulations under the administration's Phase 4 anti-inflation program were not ready. The freeze was lifted from the rest of the economy Monday.

Dunlop said the oil regulations would be released today, but that gasoline and diesel fuel retailers will need additional time to compute new price ceilings under them.

He said previously that the new ceilings will provide for rollbacks in some cases, and increases in others.

The council said that retailers will be required to post stickers on all of the nation's estimated one million-plus gasoline pumps, by Sept. 1 showing the ceiling prices and octane ratings of gasoline. Ceiling prices also must be posted on diesel fuel pumps, the council said.

Drafters of the oil regulations are said to have been racing the clock to have the regulations ready this week.

The rest of the petroleum industry — from oil refiners to distributors — will have only little more than the weekend to prepare to put the new regulations into effect.

Deputy council director James W. McFane said Thursday the new regulations a redesign to permit increased petroleum prices "to only that degree which would stimulate development of new energy reserves and permit the purchase of higher cost foreign oil."

Stickers for gasoline and diesel fuel retailers will be available from local post offices, said.

Meat Buying Ebbs

By United Press International

Wholesale meat buyers think shoppers who hoarded groceries during Phase III price controls have now stopped going to the supermarket and started eating from their freezers.

This is the explanation given for the sudden plunge in prices on Midwest wholesale meat markets the past two days.

"The people just aren't buying any meat now," a spokesman for the Livestock Market News in Des Moines said. "They are simply refusing to pay the higher prices now. Those who have meat stocked in the freezers are living off that, and those who don't have any meat stocked are refusing to buy any more."

Phase III price controls have been lifted for all food products except beef, and the ceiling on beef prices ends Sept. 12.

Grain prices have also taken a dramatic dive since breaking record highs earlier this week, but the turnaround is for different reasons, commodity market experts say.

The prices paid for grain on the Midwest markets later affects the price of meat, since most of it is sold as livestock feed. Bread prices are only slightly affected by the wheat futures, since there is only about two cents worth of wheat in a loaf of bread.

Grain commodity experts said traders were waiting for today's weekly report on wheat available for export. This, they said caused the lack of buying enthusiasm, dragging prices for corn, oat, soybeans and wheat down as much as regulations permit on the Chicago, Minneapolis and Kansas City boards of trade.

Meat prices on Midwest markets dropped for the third straight day Thursday, with hog prices plunging by as much as $5 per hundredweight from record levels. Cattle sales and prices were also down, with many points reporting not enough receipts to establish market trends.

One of the rules of Phase IV, which went into effect Monday, was that big firms—those doing $100 million a year in business—may raise prices, but only after giving 30 days notice. So far, 68 large corporations have given notice of price hikes.

Cost of Living Council Director John T. Dunlop said Thursday the number was "not out of line" with the number of firms expected to raise prices when the two-month price freeze expired.

Dunlop did not say which firms had filed the prenotification forms but the big four automakers — General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors—plus U.S. Steel have said they were on the list.

Clementz - Bullard Wedding Reported

Miss Evelyn Alice Clementz, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Clementz of Clifton, N.J. and formerly of Stone Ridge, was married Saturday, Aug. 11, at the Athenia Reformed Church of Clifton, N.J. to Sam Franklin Bullard, son of Mrs.

George A. Bullard of Banning, Cal. and the late Mr. Bullard. A reception was given in Friendship Hall.

The bride was escorted by her father who also united the couple in marriage. The bride wore a gown of flowered nylon over satin, trimmed with lace; and a waist length veil attached to a satin headpiece which was also trimmed with lace. She carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses and daisies. The bride made her gown and headpiece.

Mrs. John Creamer of Hartford, Conn., was matron of honor. She wore a gown of yellow dotted Swiss daron and a sunbonnet hat trimmed with yellow nylon cord. She carried a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses and white daisies.

The bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Poenicke of Stone Ridge, and Miss Elaine Clementz, sister of the bride, of Wappingers Falls. They wore mint green outfits identical to that of the matron of honor and carried bouquets of yellow sweetheart roses and yellow daisies. The attendants made their own gowns.

Best man was Paul Cosgrave of Albion. Ushers were Gary Wood of Bethel, Vt., and Richard Bullard, cousin of the bridegroom, of Vacaville, Cal.

The bride received a Bachelor of Science degree in June of 1972 and a Master of Library and Information Science degree in August of 1973, both from the State University of New York at Albany.

Mr. Bullard is a June, 1972, graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, and is a December, 1973, candidate for the Master's Degree in Computer Science at the University of Southwest Louisiana at Lafayette, La.

The couple left for a honeymoon trip to Lafayette, La., where they will reside.

Snorer Settles for Half a Night of Love

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Let me tell you how I handled the "snoring husband" problem: For years I slept beside him and had many sleepless nights because I just didn't want separate bedrooms. I finally took a look at myself and reasoned that my husband would rather have a rested, loving wife in the morning than what I had become, so I explained that I wanted to hug him until he fell asleep — then I'd go into the guest room to sleep, and the first one awake in the morning would come to the other's room to be together.

Nothing has worked out better. I usually wake up first, take the pins out of my hair, brush my teeth, and apply a few dabs of his favorite perfume — then I plug in the coffee and quietly slip into bed with him. In a few minutes he smells the perfume and coffee and we enjoy a sweet time of being together. He seems much happier now than he has been in all our 26 years of marriage.

This works out so much better than a whole night of tossing. Each night we thank the Lord for each other, and we do it together. A couple becomes so close when they pray together. So tell the wives of snorers to do what I did, and not to forget the prayer — or the perfume.

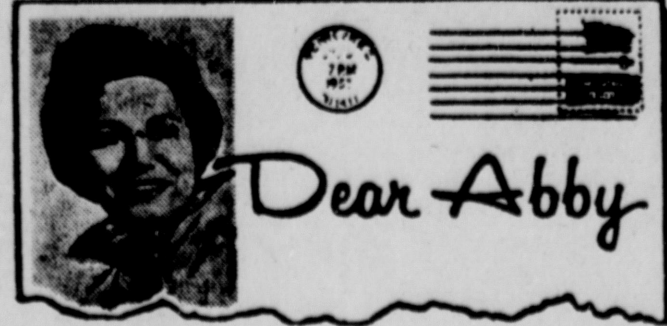

GRATEFUL AND HAPPY
DEAR G. AND H.: Beautiful. But this arrangement is possible only after the kids have left home. Or for childless couples with guest rooms. For the less fortunate I recommend adhesive tape for his mouth and ear plugs for her ears, or a gentle jab in the ribs accompanied by: "Roll over darling, you sound like a 747."

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from TROUBLED MIND who is worried because she will soon be entitled to Social Security, but has no birth certificate to prove her age.

There are other documents which are acceptable. For instance: School records; census record; an insurance policy which shows birth date; marriage record showing date of birth; permits, licenses, or voting record with age shown. There are thousands of people who were not born in this country and therefore have no birth certificates. But if one of the above-mentioned documents is offered as proof of age, it will be acceptable to the Social Security office.

N.Y. POST READER
DEAR READER: Thank you for providing my readers with this helpful information.

DEAR ABBY: This is a delayed answer to "A Believer in Buffalo," whose objection to your stand on

"living wills" was printed in your June 5th column here. (Delayed because I was in the hospital.)

It seems to me that "Believer," not you, is the one who thinks she's God. "God determines who shall die and when," she says. Why isn't she willing to let Him? Why does she insist that men use all those gadgets to thwart His will?

As for myself, my viewpoint is halfway between the two extremes of doing nothing and doing a ridiculous amount of interference. I want to live as long as my brain is active, and will use all available help in doing so. When my brain goes, I'll be dead anyhow and would prefer not to have the rest of my body kept artificially alive.

Sign me.

Beautification Program Benefit

HIGH FALLS ANTIQUE SHOW — Proceeds from a planned antique show and sale on Aug. 24 and 25 will help a beautification program in the village of High Falls. Meeting recently to complete details for the event were (L-R) Frances Calcavecchio, refreshments; Denise Springer, publicity; and Sue Sarr, general chairman. The show and sale will be conducted from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. in the High Falls firehouse in the Village just off Route 213. Public is invited.

HVP Booksale Scheduled Here

The Ulster County Board of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic will sponsor its 12th booksale Saturday, Aug. 25, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the home of Roy and Rosalee Ickes, 254 Albany Avenue, Kingston. Proceeds will go toward sponsorship of 1973-74 HVP season in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Ickes, board members, have organized the last 11 sales which have proven very successful. Though most of the books are sold for under one dollar, the total from each sale amounted to $100.

Of the donated hard-cover books and paperbacks, an estimated 6000 remain to be sold. Roy Ickes has converted his garage into a book stall, making shelves to accommodate the books for the pleasure of collectors and browsers alike.

The books range from mysteries, westerns, Victorian novels and science fiction to non-fiction, language and text books. Old magazines such as National Geographic, Saturday Evening Posts and Look Magazines, are also available.

The booksales are held on the last Saturday of each month. Donations of books would be appreciated.

Woodstock Concert Special

A special concert called "The Woodstock Special" will feature what is described as country-folk-jazz-rock at the Woodstock Playhouse on Monday, Aug. 20 at 8 p.m. Headlining the event will be Gerry Tenny and ContraBand with Arlen Roth, Mike Baldwin and Shandra Sinnamon and No Exit. ContraBand is a Woodstock based group that has played in and around Woodstock for the last six months. Last summer and fall, Gerry Tenny, formerly a teacher of sociology at City College, began singing at the Cookery in Woodstock. He was soon joined by his brother Robby on guitar bass and trumpet, and then by Neil Linden on lead guitar and banjo. Later, Michael Ryan and Jimmy Jumpere were added to fill out the rhythm section. The group plays original tunes, bluegrass, country, western swing oldies. Members of the band have played with such groups as The Greenbriars Boys, Buswell, Casse Culver and Moonshine. Joining them at the Playhouse concert will be Arlen Roth who regularly plays with Happy and Artie Traum. Mike Baldwin also made the Woodstock cafe circuit several years ago as an innovator in the amalgamation of country sounds with jazz, rock and music all his own. He has since recorded for Vanguard and RCA records. Shandra Sinnamon had done concert tours and single performances on the West Coast and in the South before joining the National Shakespeare Company this summer. At the Playhouse she is featured in that company's productions of "Kiss Me Kate" and "The Boys from Syracuse." Backing her will be a group called "No Exit," comprised of Robert Rayel, drummer, and Orin Sandel, bassist, both of the National Shakespeare Company Orchestra, and Robert Raines, lead guitarist. Tickets for the "Woodstock Special" concert may be purchased at the Woodstock Playhouse box office.

NSC Presents Original Comedy

Members of the acting company and staff of the National Shakespeare Company will direct, design and act in an original one act comedy entitled "It's To Laugh" by Stan Laschow to be presented by the Cubiculo at Byrdcliffe on Sunday and Monday, Aug. 19 and 20 at 8:30 p.m. The play will be directed by George Coates, a member of the Shakespeare Company now performing regularly at the Woodstock Playhouse. The roles in the two character play will be portrayed by Dennis Sook, also a member of the acting company, and Barbara Letven, a member of the scenic design staff. Jeremy Unger, designer for the Playhouse productions, will provide scenic design consultation for this production and Richard Ruiz, assistant costume designer, will design costumes. "It's To Laugh," which concerns itself with a chance meeting of a middle aged man and a prostitute, has previously been shown at three off-Broadway theatres in New York City but this production is the first outside that city. Mr. Laschow's full-length play "I'm Not Jewish and I Don't Know Why I'm Screaming," played to packed houses at the Cubiculo in New York last spring and is now under option for future Broadway production. Another of Mr. Laschow's one act plays, "If I Were the Only Boy," was presented by the Barn Players of Rockland Community College and won an award at the Westchester Arts Festival. Mr. Laschow, in addition to having written these and several other plays, has directed for the Elmwood Community Playhouse, Y Players, the Black Arts Festival in Rockland County and for several off-off-Broadway theatres. A graduate of the University Without Walls at Roger Williams College, he has for the past three years been a member of Michaelis Shurtleff's Theatre Workshop as a director and playwright. He has also acted in numerous productions at the Elmwood Community Playhouse, the Indianapolis Civic Theatre and the Cubiculo. George Coates now performing with the National Shakespeare Company in their productions of "Kiss Me Kate," "Julius Caesar," "As You Like It" and "Saint Joan" at the Woodstock Playhouse, previously studied with Broadway Director Gene Frankel and worked a season with the Dramatic Art Department of the University of California at Berkeley. He also worked as an actor off-off-Broadway performing plays by new American playwrights. Tickets, reservations or information for "It's To Laugh," can be obtained at the box office of the Woodstock Playhouse.

New Music Theatre

The Windham Mountain Club, a ski facility in the Northern Catskill Mountains at Windham, N.Y., announces the opening of the Windham Music Theatre, Wednesday, Aug. 22 with curtain at 9 p.m. Open to the public, the summer theatre is the first of its kind in the Windham area. Doors to the Windham Mountain Clubhouse will open at 8 p.m. for refreshments favorite drinks and/or Viennese gourmet sandwiches and desserts. The same will be offered after the performance. Theatre goers will be served by the performers themselves. The first production to be staged in the Windham Theatre will be Franz Lehar's MERRY WIDOW, performed by New York theatre professionals under the direction of highly acclaimed, Emmy-winning Producer/Director Frank Heffner.

Upcoming Events In Art and Music

The Philadelphia Baroque Quartet will perform the final concert in the Connoisseur Concerts series at the Canfield Casino at 8 p.m., Monday, Aug. 20.

The group, four musicians from The Philadelphia Orchestra Association, will play a concert of 17th and 18th century music, including works of Bassani, Bononcini, Vivaldi, Bonporti, Veracini, Sammartini and Califano.

Antonia Vivaldi was born in Venice and died in Vienna. He spent most of his life as the priest in charge of music at an orphanage-conservatory for girls. His reputation, however, was as a violinist and instrumental composer. His compositions for strings are considered especially significant. The Quartet will be performing his Trio Sonata in G Minor on Monday night's program.

Giovanni Battista Sammartini was the organist at the Milan Cathedral in the 18th century. He was a prolific composer, writing over 2,000 works throughout his life. His violoncello Sonata in C Major will be performed at the Casino.

Francesco Veracini was a Tuscan of the 18th century. Many of his contemporaries thought him the greatest violinist of his age. Herbert Light will play his violin Sonata in E Minor Monday evening.

In addition, Deborah Carter will play flute and George Harpham will play cello. William Smith, the assistant conductor of The Philadelphia Orchestra, will perform on the piano.

Tickets for this series are available at the door prior to the concert. All other tickets for events of the Saratoga Festival may be obtained at the main box office at the Performing Arts Center or at any Ticketron outlet.

Several hundred drawings and paintings by students at the summer school of the Art Students League of New York in Woodstock were put on public view this week in the League's spacious gallery on Route 212. The exhibition is open Monday thru Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and will continue through August 23rd. It presents a selective cross-section of work done in

THE ROMEROS — What promises to be one of the top concert events in Woodstock will take place in Maverick Concert Hall Sunday, Aug. 19 at 3 p.m. The Romeros, Spanish guitarists who have become known on the international scene as "The Royal Family of Guitar," will be appearing. Among the composers represented on their Maverick program will be Telemann, Soler, Sor, Torroba, Grandos, Ibert, de Falla, Albeniz and Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 3 in a special four-guitar transcription. Tickets available at the door.

classes of Franklin Alexander, Robert Angeloch and Bernard Steffen, all well-known professional artists as well as instructors at the League.

More than 100 students were registered at the world-famous summer school during July and August. Some of the pictures are for sale.

Robert Kliment and his associate, Frances Hallband will be on hand Friday night at the W.A.A. Gallery to present their plans, slides and models of the new addition and remodeling project. Their plans call for a crescent-shaped wing to project in the back of the gallery which will provide additional exhibition space and storage for the Woodstock Collection.

The Gallery will retain its present facade, but the interior will undergo many changes, as Robert and Frances will show. This extension evening will give the public an opportunity to ask questions of the architects about their plans and the purposes of various aspects of the expansion. They have strong feelings about the way their structure relates to the Village Green and the importance of the Green as the "vital center of the town." The program begins at 8 p.m.

Aaron: Not This Year

By United Press International
Hank Aaron has given up hope that he will equal or surpass Babe Ruth's all-time home run record this season but is confident that he will achieve the feat in 1974.

"I don't really think it's possible that I'll reach the record this year," said Aaron after hitting his 29th of the season and the 702nd of his career in the Atlanta Braves' 10-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Thursday. "There aren't enough games left for me to do it this season."

"I would like to hit five or six more this season," he continued. "And then go for the record next year. I don't think I've got a good chance to hit 13 more homers this season."

Aaron's homer Thursday, his first since July 31, came off reliever Jack Aker and capped a nine-run eighth-inning outburst which enabled the Braves to deal the Cubs their 11th straight loss and 14th in their last 15 games. It came on a 2-2 pitch and sailed about 400 feet into the left field bleachers at Wrigley Field.

The San Francisco Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 in the other National League game Thursday while the Oakland A's beat the Boston Red Sox 6-3 and the Cleveland Indians topped the Kansas City Royals 10-4 in American League games.

Aaron has hit 29 homers in the Braves' 124 games so far this season and that pace projected against his remaining 38 games would mean that he would end the season with 71—three short of Ruth's mark.

Tom Bradley received credit for his 10th win with the relief help of Elias Sosa in the Giants' victory over the Phillies. Ken Brett went the distance for the Phillies and suffered his fifth loss against 12 victories. Bob Boone homered for the Phillies.

Vida Blue, coming on strong after his poor 1972 season, pitched a four-hitter and Reggie Jackson drove in four runs with two homers for the A's. The victory raised Blue's record to 13-7, including four straight wins, while Jackson raised his RBI total to 98.

Ron Loliche drove in four runs with two doubles and a single and Chris Chambliss extended his hitting streak to 17 games with a homer and a single in the Indians' victory. The loss dropped the Royals one percentage point behind Oakland in the AL West.

NO. 702 — Atlanta's premier home-run hitter Hank Aaron (44) crosses home plate after hitting number 702 into the Wrigley Field bleachers in the eighth inning of Thursday's game. Waiting to greet him are Darrell Evans (11) and Mike Lum (28), who were on base, on-deck batter Dusty Baker (12) and umpire Billy Williams. Atlanta beat the Cubs, 10-2, handing Chicago its 11th straight loss. (UPI)

Two Straight Routs For U.S. Hoopsters

MOSCOW (UPI) — The United States men's basketball team scored its second consecutive runaway victory at the World University Games today with a 129-31 rout of Sweden.

The taller and more experienced Americans dominated every phase of the mismatch and permitted the Swedes just two baskets in the first 10 minutes of play. Halftime score was 57 to 17.

"It was a good morning workout, but not much more," U.S. Head Coach Ed Badger said. "I felt we could have been a little sharper."

Obviously, Badger was referring to frequent "hotdog" tactics his troops utilized in thoroughly embarrassing the Britons. Marvin Barnes, the 6-foot-9 center from Providence was high man for the Americans with 24 points—at least 14 of them coming off crowd-pleasing dunk shots.

And the forwards, David Thompson of North Carolina State and Maurice Lucas of Marquette, intimidated the Britons with between-the-leg dribbles and cross-court passes that didn't always reach their mark.

"We really didn't have to run patterns," Thompson admitted. "They kept the basket open and all we did was throw the ball inside for all those easy buckets."

Barnes, however, made the point that not all the games will be this easy. "We won't be able to do this against the stronger teams here," the burly center said.

In addition to Barnes' 24 and Thompson's 21, Tom Burleson of North Carolina State contributed 20 points and 14 rebounds to the U.S. cause.

Kuhn Avoids a Showdown

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — "I did not vote it down. I did not vote it up," Kuhn said after the 45 minute closing session of Kuhn decided not to exercise any at all, thereby delighting the National League, dismaying the American, and killing off any possible chance of inter-league play next year.

Kuhn did all this by simply declining to vote yes or no on Thursday when the American League pressed him to do so in the deadlock with the National League over whether regular season inter-league play should be introduced next season.

Thus Kuhn definitely avoided a showdown over whether he has the power to vote when the two leagues are deadlocked over an item such as inter-league play.

The American League thought he did. The National League thought he didn't.

He posed the question to the owners Thursday, speaking of himself as a third party, and answered himself immediately: "It's more a question of wisdom. Assuming he does have the power to cast such a vote, he isn't inclined to at this time."

A general silence greeted the statement and Kuhn then proposed his "Blue Ribbon Committee."

"I think it has an extremely important mission to perform for baseball," he said. "It's important that its power is unlimited in the areas in which it can make recommendations."

"It's free to go into inter-league play if it wants to. Its free not to if it wants to. I would expect it to range fairly widely into baseball matters."

The result was a National League victory. That League wanted no action on the American League proposal to continue a special inter-league committee so that a definite recommendation could be made. That's exactly what happened.

If there was any doubt, it was dispelled when National League President Chub Feeney left the meeting room with a broad grin on his face. American League President Joe Cronin was frowning.

Allan H. "Bud" Selig, president of the Milwaukee Brewers and a member of the inter-league committee, was also disappointed, though he tried to conceal it.

His committee had considered a half dozen plans ranging from four games to 18 for each team on an inter-league basis. No specific plan was proposed, but Selig said the four-game proposal seemed to be the most "pragmatic."

He said the committee, especially National League representatives Feeney and Francis Dale of the Cincinnati Reds, had worked extremely hard since the committee was formed six months ago.

"I was hopeful of some sort of implementation," Selig said. "But I do feel the work we have done will stand baseball in good stead in the future. It has been an important input into the thinking of inter-league play and major league alignment."

Selig was a leading proponent of inter-league play. His league voted unanimously for it. It's fate was doomed Tuesday, however, when the National League met and unanimously rejected the concept. The league reaffirmed its stand Wednesday and relayed its feelings to the joint session Thursday.

Kuhn said he did not vote, not only because of the question of whether he had the power to do so, but because "at this point I thought there were too many problems with respect to the proposal for favorable action to be taken at this time. I have left the question open as to whether I would take a different view at a different time."

"I'm satisfied from my knowledge of the circumstances here that it would not best serve baseball at this time to implement it."

Selig was not certain whether the question of games between the two leagues could be resolved by the special committee.

"The commissioner said it very well," Selig said. "History will tell that."

The three-day meetings had been moved here from San Diego, Calif., where a court suit is pending over the move of the Padres to Washington, D. C. National League officials, citing a court order against them, said they had not discussed the Padres situation in their meetings.

One American League source said, however, he felt that the situation had been talked about. "It's only natural," he said. "I know if we were in the same situation, we'd be discussing it—whether it was over cocktails or in a meeting."

Crenshaw and Devlin Play Reverse Roles

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — Sometimes the rookies play like veterans and the veterans make rookie mistakes.

How else would you explain these happenings Thursday in the opening round of the $200,000 USI Classic at Pleasant Valley Country Club:

—Ben Crenshaw, fresh out of the University of Texas where he won an unprecedented three straight NCAA national championships, played his first round as a professional and carded a one-under par 71.

—Bruce Devlin, in his 12th year on the Professional Golfers' Association tour, and the defending champion in this tournament, was disqualified for an unintentional but "serious" rules infraction. He played the ball from the wrong place after hitting into a water hazard.

Dick Lotz, meanwhile, fired a five-under par 67 on the strength of putts from 35 and 60 feet to take a one-stroke lead over Bert Yancey and Rik Massengale heading into today's second round on the hilly and winding 7,212-yard course.

Crenshaw, 21, of Austin, Tex., said he "tried not to think on the back nine and 'got off a about the money' in his good tee shot right at the professional debut. "I just tried start."

to play my game. Of course, it's awful easy to say that you won't think about money. "I was able to do that today," he said. "If I make the cut, I might look at it a bit different, come Sunday."

Crenshaw started his round said he "tried not to think on the back nine and 'got off a about the money' in his good tee shot right at the professional debut. "I just tried start."

Mary Budke Is Defeated In Try for USGA Repeat

WEST ORANGE, N.J. (UPI) — Defending champion Mary Budke of Dayton, Ore., lost to Carol Semple, 24, of Sewickley, Pa., four-time Pennsylvania winner, 2 and 1, denying Miss Budke her second consecutive U.S. Women's championship at the 73rd U.S. Women's Amateur championship Thursday.

Earlier in the day, Miss Budke took 20 holes to oust 17-year old Amy Alcott of Los Angeles.

Miss Budke said she hadn't been playing well and her game finally caught up to her.

Reaching the semifinals was Michigans' Bonnie Lauer, Donna Horton of Kingston, N.C., and Anne Sander of Seattle.

Mrs. Sander, a three-time amateur winner, will meet Miss Horton while Miss Semple and Miss Lauer will meet in Friday's semifinals.

Miss Alcott who won the National Junior Girls title last week at Somerset Hills, was cheerful despite her defeat.

"One has to lose sometime, but I hope to come back here," she said. "I like this state."

Simpson to Miss Stadium Opener

The Buffalo Bills open their new 80,000-seat Rich Stadium tonight against the Washington Redskins without their biggest star.

O.J. Simpson, the National Football League's leading rusher last season and Player of the Year in the American Conference, will miss tonight's game with a broken rib.

Buffalo has had its offensive problems during the pre-season, failing to score a touchdown in a pair of losses, and Coach Lou Saban will test rookie Joe Ferguson at quarterback to night against the NFC champions.

Ferguson, the Bills' No. 3 draft pick from Arkansas, will start ahead of veteran Dennis Shaw. The Bills, weak at running back with injuries to Simpson and Randy Jackson, Thursday acquired veteran Larry Watkins from Philadelphia for linebacker Dick Cunningham.

In the only pre-season action Thursday, Philadelphia's "boobies" joined the Pittsburgh Steelers in feasting on the carcasses of quarterbacks John Reaves and Roman Gabriel as the Steelers won 17-3.

Reaves, in his second year, threw three interceptions in the first half and Gabriel, the high-priced acquisition from Los Angeles, found out why the Steelers' defense is ranked among the best in the league as he completed only 2 of 13 passes and spent most of the night on his back checking the night on Philadelphia.

"Gabriel is going to get shellshocked," said New Eagle Coach Mike McCormack. "Every time Gabriel threw it, they picked him off the seat of his pants."

Terry Hanratty relieved starter Terry Bradshaw at quarterback late in the third period and directed Pittsburgh to pair of quick scores that sealed the game. Hanratty threw a 52-yard TD pass to Ron Shanklin and set up Roy Gerela's 43-yard field goal. Preston Pearson drove six yards for the first Steeler score while Tom Dempsey's 47-yard field goal accounted for the Eagles' points.

Pittsburgh's defense has surrendered only one touchdown in three games.

In other pre-season action this weekend, Baltimore takes on Detroit at Memphis, Houston meets Green Bay at Milwaukee, Oakland plays Los Angeles at Berkeley, Calif., St. Louis is at Denver, Minnesota at Kansas City, Chicago at Miami, New England at Atlanta and New Orleans at Dallas, all on Saturday. On Sunday, the New York Jets tangle in New Haven, Conn., Cleveland meets Cincinnati at Columbus, Ohio, and San Diego is at San Francisco.

In news from the camps on Thursday, veteran safety Bryant Salter walked out of the San Diego camp without explanation. Charger Coach Harland Svare said Salter will be fined $150 for every day's training he misses.

The New York Jets said veteran Don Maynard, the leading receiver in NFL history, will make his first start of the exhibition season against the Giants Sunday. Maynard, who broke in with the Giants in 1958, reported late to camp.

New England traded wide receiver Tom Reynolds and linebacker Ken Lee to Chicago for draft choices and Cleveland announced that veteran Canadian player Hugh McKinnis would start at running back Sunday in place of injured Bo Scott.

Dick Shiner, battling Pat Sullivan for the quarterback job at Atlanta, will start for the Falcons against New England Saturday night and Bob Berry, traded away by Atlanta after last season, will be at quarterback in place of Fran Tarkenton for Minnesota in a nationally-televised contest against Kansas City Saturday night.

Los Angeles will play against Oakland with two starting defensive backs, Eddie McMillen and Cullen Bryant, both rookies, doubtful with injuries. The Rams also asked waivers on Edsel Garrison, a former star receiver at Southern California.

NEW YORK (UPI) — This was to be a big weekend for the Meadow Stable but Secretariat was knocked out of the $100,000 added Travers Stakes by a fever and Riva Ridge out of the $100,000 added Hobson Handicap by weight, throwing both races wide open.

With Secretariat, the Triple Crown champion, sidelined by illness, the 104th running of the Travers Stakes at Saratoga is expected to draw about nine starters. The Hobson drew nine entrants for its third running at Liberty Bell after trainer Lucien Laurin decided the 130 pounds assigned Riva Ridge was more than he wanted the colt to carry.

Both races are 1 1/4 mile events with Our Native the likely favorite for the Travers and Model Husband the public choice and starting high weight in the Hobson under 120 pounds.

Clowns, Braves Try It Again

FOILED once by wet weather, the Indianapolis Clowns try again tonight to present their baseball circus when they visit Dietz Stadium for an 8:45 p.m. game against the Kingston Braves.

Clowns' publicists are promising plenty of laughs for they are quick to point out that Indianapolis plays it for keeps. And, yes, two of the Clowns' "graduates" are now playing in the big leagues. One is catcher Paul Casanova. The other, a fellow by the name of Hank Aaron.

Shultis Hurls No-Hitter

In Little League Round Robin Play

KINGSTON — Russ Shultis, who pitches and bats third, has been a big boy for the Esopus Little League Montafia Indians throughout the regular 1973 season. He loomed even larger in his latest outing, when he hurled a no-hit, no-run, 16-0 victory over the Hurley Mets to move the Indians into the semi-final round of the Kingston Area Little League Round Robin Tournament. In addition to his sparkling pitching, Shultis unloaded two home runs and a single in four trips, as the Indians parlayed six hits, 15 walks and assorted Hurley miscues into a route. The winners scored eight times in the second inning. The Indians meet Rondout Valley this evening at the Kingston American field for the right to challenge Town of Ulster Yankees in the championship game at the same diamond.

The Yankees, who had a semi-final round bye, advanced to the finals Thursday with a 7-3 triumph over the National Little League Cubs.

Dave Carlson doubled and John Loughlin and Mike Rice had a single each to account for the other Esopus hits. John Williams turned in a strong four-hitter for Ulster against the National Cubs. He struck out nine and walked only one. Rich Boier and Steve Jackson combined to limit the Yankees to only three hits, but six bases on balls and four Cubs miscues made it easier.

There were no extra base hits in the Ulster National game. Rich Hall, Kevin McKniff and John Williams accounted for the Yankee singles, but alert base running by Hall, Jay Fitzgerald and Williams helped boost the Yankee total.

The four Cubs singles went to Rich Boier, Erich Sanders, Steve Jackson and Jeff Miller. The Yankees routed Cuz starter Rich Boier with a five-run outburst in the third inning. They added two more off reliever Steve Jackson in the last inning. Williams' was in tight control of the game except in the third inning when the Cubs scored their three runs.

Town of Ulster has moved into the finals at the expense of two Kingston teams the champions of the American and National Little Leagues, with the help of a bye.

Esopus drew a first round bye, while Hurley eliminated Onteora in a first round contest, then lost to Esopus. Rondout Valley Pirates advanced to the semi-finals without lifting a bat. Kerhonkson forfeited to them in the first round and they got a bye in the second round.

The Esopus Roundout game this evening and the championship contest will be played at 6 p.m.

Pete Zeeh Advances

The Ulster County Tennis Tournament resumed Thursday and continued its early pattern of providing no major surprises.

Pete Zeeh returned to action in the highlight men's singles match and the former champion, who had chosen to sit out the last several tournaments, easily advanced to the quarter-finals by downing Harry Buback, 6-1, 6-0. Pete is No. 2 seed to his brother Bill. The younger Zeeh made it to the quarter-finals earlier in the week.

Fourth seeded Dick Little played his first match following a first round bye and handed Pete Fowler a 6-0, 6-1 thrashing.

In other men's singles matches, Joe Hevesi moved into the third round with a 6-2, 7-6, win over Raj Baja. Hevesi will meet Bill Carr in his next match. Tony Badalato also got into the third round when he survived a 10-8 first set against Abel Garraghan, then put him away in the second, 6-1. Badalato will face the winner of the Jerry Leatherman-Joe Viglielmo match. Jim Boyd went to three sets to beat Carl Hubert, 7-6, 4-6, 7-6, in the day's closest match. He'll play the Dick Smith-George Martin winner in the third round. Smith is No. 3 seed.

Barbara Tocherman advanced to the quarter-finals of the women's singles division by topping Aileen Cramer, 6-1, 6-0.

She'll face the survivor of the Barbara Badalato-Mary Lynn Bock first round match. Badalato is second seeded in the tourney.

The favorites rolled in women's doubles as top seeded Ruth Goldin and Judy Sykes won two matches to advance all the way to the finals. The winning duo topped Scrapy Hutton and Sue Jordan, 6-3, 6-2, and then downed Margot Vestgaard and Paula Hutton, 6-2, 6-0.

Meanwhile, No. 2 seeds Barbara Badalato and Mary Fowler inched their way into the semi-finals by defeating Mary Jo Avery and Nancy Edwards, 6-2, 7-5.

The other women's doubles match had Ann Roberts and Peggy Grover eliminating Aileen Cramer and Barbara Fite, 6-2, 6-3.

In men's doubles, Bill Carr and Arun Bhagwat came from one set down to beat John Roberts and Nick Fowler, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1. That moves them to the quarter-finals and what about even while Solomon, a seems to be an inevitable clash with the top seeded Zeeh brothers.

Jim and Pete Boyd also advanced to the quarter-finals by scoring a 6-4, 6-0 win over Nat Borsky and Howard Rankin.

In mixed doubles, Chris Miller and Tom Provenzano entered the quarter-finals, 6-0, 6-2, over Judy Grayson and Kalleberg. Marshall Lipton and Scrapy Hutton won a first round match over Karen Aune and Vic Melville, 6-4, 6-2.

AL MILLER

Miller Named

NEW YORK (UPI) — Al Miller, coach of the expansion Philadelphia Atoms in the North American Soccer League, today became the first American-born man to be elected Coach of the Year.

The 36-year-old Miller, who spent 12 years as a coach at New Paltz State University and Hartwick College, fashioned Philadelphia into a powerful combination in the short space of three months and saw the Atoms finish with a regular season 9-2-8 record and second to Dallas in total points.

Miller will be honored at the New York City luncheon next week along with other NASL award winners still to be announced.

Philadelphia plays Toronto on Saturday with the winner meeting Dallas for the 1973 championship.

Ron Newman of Dallas, Arthur Rodrigues of Toronto and New York City's Gordon Bradley finished behind Miller in the balloting.

Smith vs. Nastase?

ALAMO, Calif. (UPI) —

Whether Stan Smith and Ilie Nastase, two of the world's best tennis players, meet Saturday in the Davis Cup singles semifinal between the United States and Romania hinges on today's draw.

The draw will be made at noon at the Round Hill Country Club, site of the weekend series which will produce a finalist for the challenge round later in the year.

Smith and Nastase, old rivals, are the respective leaders of their teams. The dropoff to the next best is considerable and Coaches Dennis Ralston of the U.S. and Cristea Caralului of Romania have kept mum weeklong as to their choices while watching a series of warmup matches.

The American team, besides Smith, includes Eric Van Dillen, a solid doubles player, Marty Riessen, Tom Gorman, Dick Stockton and Harold Solomon. The Romanian team, besides Nastase, is made up of Toma Ovici, Ionel Santeiu, Viorel Marcu and Dumitru Haradua.

In practice sets this week, Riessen and Gorman played about even while Solomon, a clay courts specialist, has reportedly beaten Riessen six straight sets and Smith twice.

The guessing is that Riessen will wind up as the other American in singles, at least for opening day, while Van Dillen will team with Smith, five times the world champion, in Sunday's doubles. Monday's concluding singles pairings won't be determined until later, contingent, of course on the score at that point.

Nastase, fined by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association earlier this week for using abusive language to the referee in a tournament in Cincinnati, is anxious to play Smith, who beat him four of five times last year and in their only match this year.

Nastase never is lost for words and, at the moment, he is a little disturbed that Romania is being listed as an underdog.

"Sure, I want to play Smith," Nastase said. "He is their best and I am my country's best so we should play each other. If I beat him Saturday, then we have a good chance to win the series. If I lose, we could have problems, but you never know."

"They say in the newspapers we are the underdogs. I don't think so. Maybe our two teams are pretty even but we will find out once we play."

Gottfried Whips Connors, Faces Cliff Richey Next

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —

Unseeded Brian Gottfried upset his former doubles partner Thursday but faced fifth-seeded Cliff Richey today in the quarterfinal round of men's singles in the National Clay Court Tennis championships.

Gottfried, a 21-year-old former Trinity University star from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., beat second-seeded Jimmy Connors of Los Angeles Thursday, 6-7, 5-6, 6-3.

Top-seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain advanced to the quarterfinals by stopping Tashiro Sakai of Japan, 6-2, 6-2. Cliff Richey gained the quarter-finals by posting a 6-4 6-4 win over Spain's Antonio Munoz.

Third-seeded Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia retired in an earlier match with Mexico's Raul Ramirez after complaining of a knee injury. Pilic won the first set 7-6 but Ramirez took the second 6-4 and was leading in the third and deciding set 5-3 when the match ended.

Boiceville Holds A Division Lead

KINGSTON Boiceville Inn remained atop the tight City Slo Pitch A Division race with a 10-5 victory over Pier Seven I Monday. The loss dropped Pier Seven to second place tie with Ray's Village Inn which lost to Corner Rest, 8-5.

John Crispino of Boyle's A.C. blanked Wayside, 4-0, on a neat five-hitter, dropping the losers to fourth place with a record of 8 wins and 4 losses. Boiceville opened with five runs against Pier 7 and was never headed. John Stellan pitched a steady nine-hitter for the winners, who collected 19 blows off Roger Colao, including home runs by Rick Lewis and Ken Baum. Vince Hart homered for Pier Seven.

Lewis knocked in three runs with a single, double and home run. Baum added a single and triple to his homer. Ron Pape stroked three singles for the winners. Hart had a single in addition to his homer and Steve Van Kleeck slammed a double and single.

Corner Rest racked up 16 hits against Ray's with Paul Saefflof delivering a homer and two singles. Tom Barton rapped three singles. Don Burhans knocked in three Ray's runs with a home run and single. Crispino turned in one of the top pitching efforts of the season for Boyle's in their upset over Wayside. The winners collected 10 hits off Pat Burke and had the game won as early as the second inning.

Jim Amato paced the Boyle's attack with three singles and Rod Whittaker added a pair. Tom Auringer hit two for Wayside.

Indiana Girl Big Winner

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Veronica Williams of Gary, Ind., was the big winner Thursday in the final day of the 25th annual Amateur Athletics Union (AAU) National Junior Olympics, as she ran off with three Gold medals.

Miss Williams captured the 120-yard dash title, came back a short time later to cop the girls' 220-yard dash crown, and anchored the Region 6 (Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio) 440-yard Gold medal relay team.

Miss Williams ran the 120 in 11.1, the 220 in 24.6 and, along with three team mates, ran the relay winner in 47.9.

Three records fell Thursday, two in the boys' competition and one in the girls'.

Alvin Crenshaw of Dallas blitzed through the boys' 880-yard run in a time of 152.3, snapping the old standard of 152.5 set last year by Robert Prince of Sioux City, Ia.

Russ Vincent of Seattle put his name in the record book with a shot put toss of 62 feet 11 inches. Vincent's heave bumped Ronald Semkiw of Pittsburgh, who threw the shot 62 ft. 6 inches in 1971.

The only other record in the final day of competition was set by Karen Krichke of Sharon, Pa., as she cleared the high jump at 5 feet 6 inches. That broke the old record of 5-4 3/4 held by six different people.

Area Sports Briefs Nancy Lowe Tops Class A

SAUGERTIES Nancy Lowe of Wiltwyck Golf Club fashioned an 89 to lead the Class A division of the annual Sawyerkill Country Club Ladies Invitational. Mickey Gruberg of Wiltwyck captured Class A net honors with 92-19-73.

Goldie Slutsky of Hunter was a double winner. She matched Mrs. Lowe's 39 to lead Class B gross and won low putts honors for the day with 26. Dee Lawrence carded the best net of the day with 95-26-69 in Class B.

Marion Burger's 101 gross and Ruth Marshall's 103-30-73 low net led the Class C division.

Mary Graves of Wiltwyck had the longest drive on the sixth hole and Boots Overbaugh of Wiltwyck was nearest to the pin on the No. 4 hole.

Sherlock Keeps Winning

Racing on the Mohawk River, Sherlock placed first both Saturday and Sunday. He is now the leading point scorer among Class SJ drivers in the northeastern United States and Canada, with seven wins in his last eight starts.

Tom Turner of Kingston placed seventh in the SJ Class at Schenectady in a field of sixteen. Gary Reynolds of Port Ever finished third both Saturday and Sunday in the FJ Class on the Mohawk. A total of 68 boats from Eastern United States and Canada competed, with Kingston area drivers claiming their share of trophies and prize money.

Village Cobbler Division Champs

SAUGERTIES The Village Cobbler clinched the D Division Pennant of the Saugerties Softball League by sweeping a pair of games coupled with two losses by the Knights of Columbus. The Cobblers personally took care of the Knights by a 10-4 count and then bumped off Boo's Tavern 12-7.

K of C also lost to C & L

Aquarium 12-2 and Helmsmoortel Insurance outlasted Boo's Tavern 15-11 in the remaining D League contest.

Rich Brocco, Bill Clearwater, Walt Hillje and Pat Scarselli led a balanced Cobbler attack against the Knights with two hits each. Rich Greco drove in a pair of runs with two singles for the losers.

The Brocco boys proved to be too much for Boo's, as Rich drove three runs home with four singles. Mike belted a homer and two singles and Joe added a single, double and two rbi's. Bob Schoenbacher led the charge against the Cobblers with four rbi's on a single and a homerun. Leo Ostoyic silenced the K of C bats with a two hitter for C & L. The winners attack was paced by Tom Abate's triple and two singles. Doug Covert's single, double and two rbi's and Rich Bollin's two run homer.

A 21-hit barrage by Helmsmoortel's insured an unhappy trip back to the tavern for Boo's. Tom Zulick and Rene Clark led the way with four hits apiece. Mike Sommers added three and Wayne Brunkhurst plated five teammates with two singles and a homerun.

Boo's Don Minkler came within a homerun of hitting for the cycle as he knocked out the single, double and triple. Dale Dimitt also had three hits in the losing cause.

Boler Hurls No-Hitter

KINGSTON Scipio Boler of the Hurley Lions pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Kingston Lions, striking out 13 enroute to a 7-0 victory in the Babe Ruth League.

Boler walked four and permitted only 1 ball to be hit beyond the infield — a routine fly ball to center by Art Selightner. The winners collected six hits off Selightner.

Newburgh's Bobby Green Accord Feature Winner

As a result of showers, the usual Friday night program at Accord Speedway was held Sunday, with Bobby Green of Newburgh winning the Sportsmen feature.

Jim Ruge of Shokan placed second, followed by Pete Keator of Kerhonkson. Bud Depuy, Gardiner, fourth and Ron Van Etten, Rhinebeck, fifth. Green and Keator were the heat winners.

Wayne Tyler of Cottekill led the Sedan feature, with Charlie Hansen of Kerhonkson second. Trailing in order were Jackie Brown of Accord, Norbert Bracklin of Olivebridge and Duane Nickle of Highland.

Jackie Brown took the reverse start event in this class. The Novice feature went to ACCORD Gary Ronk of Highland, with P.J. Brown of Saugerties the runnerup. Bob Buyl Jr. of Montgomery was third, followed by Charlie Wenden of Highland and Pete Simpson, also of Highland. Ronk and Simpson captured the heats.

Lillian Armetta of Millbrook earned a trophy for winning the women's demolition derby.

Rhinebeck Principal Is Named

RHINEBECK
A new elementary school principal has been named by the Rhinebeck Board of Education.
Jerome Ochs, presently the principal of the Intermediate School of Schuylerville, N.Y., will assume his duties Aug. 20, replacing William Fisher who retired this year.

He will be in charge of administration of the Chancellor Livingston School and Bulkeley School in the district.
Ochs received his B.S. from SUNY at Brockport in 1965 and his M.S. from SUNY at Plattsburgh in 1971. His undergraduate work was in elementary education and early social studies, while graduate work was in elementary education. He taught fifth and sixth grades for five years before becoming an elementary principal in 1971.

Ochs grew up in Rochester and has traveled extensively both in Europe and in the United States. Taking a year off from his studies, he worked in a lumber camp in Missoula, Mont. "pulling a green chain and a dry chain," which he translates as pulling green and dry lumber off a conveyor belt.

He also studied at the Inter-American University in San Germain, Puerto Rico.
A man of varied interests, Ochs collects media equipment dating from the mid-19th century, including such items as Edison records and related equipment. He terms himself "an inveterate junk store hound." He has also been a member of the Saratoga County Board of Directors of "Big Brother."

Susan Ochs, his wife, is a certified elementary teacher who has taught in Germany. They have one child.

Senior Economist Sees Inflationary Slowdown

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON — Retail prices will continue to climb out of sight this year and unemployment figures will soon increase, but the long-term outlook for the American economy is steady growth and a slower inflationary spiral, according to Dr. Edward J. Campbell, senior economist for Bankers Trust Co. of New York City.

Dr. Campbell addressed a joint luncheon meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs Thursday afternoon at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. And he expressed optimism about the state of America's economy for the years ahead.

Dr. Campbell predicted that the rate of inflation has reached its peak, and will begin to slow down in the coming months. "This rate of economic expansion just can't be maintained for any length of time," he said. "It should continue to decline for the rest of this year, and be substantially lower in 1974."

He wasn't, however, as optimistic about the future of retail prices. He said, for example, that prices on men's and women's clothing this fall will be "out of this world," with prices increasing at an average of 25 per cent. The reason: a 125 per cent increase is the cost of wool and a 63 per cent increase in the cost of cotton.

Dr. Campbell didn't have any particularly good news about food prices, either. "It's hard to tell where they'll end up," he said. "Food prices will eventually peak, but no one is sure when."

He said that, sometime in 1974, beef prices will decline, but then rise again sharply in 1975. "If you think the price of beef is high now," he added, "just wait until 1975." According to Dr. Campbell, America's overall economic growth will continue to rise in the years ahead, but at a rate slower than during the past decade. In fact, he projected "zero economic growth" for the first half of 1974 before the economy surges ahead later in the year.

With the expected downturn in economic growth, Dr. Campbell also predicted that unemployment will again climb above the five per cent level. The auto industry, he said, should be the hardest hit, because of indications that Americans won't be buying as many new cars next year.

The building industry, too, will suffer. Dr. Campbell predicted a 30 per cent reduction in the number of new housing units constructed next year. "The buying spree appears to have slowed down," he said.

Dr. Campbell also described inflation as "nothing more than a tremendous tax, and we've just had a whopping tax increase."

Seems that after receiving a trophy, a crown and a $25 savings bond for winning the Newburgh contest, Jeannie admitted she had gone through a ceremony, complete with groom, marriage license and minister. But she insisted that she does not consider herself married and hinted that the ceremony wasn't legal.

The newly crowned blonde-haired beauty is a newcomer to Newburgh; arrived six months ago from Baltimore, Md. and landed a job in a sporting goods store on Broadway in the city.

The winner of the beauty crown was a 19-year-old blonde and, in keeping with tradition, she cried when pageant officials at Roman Gardens last Monday night selected her as the most deserving contestant to wear the title of Miss City of Newburgh. She's crying again today and her tears are about as salty as the rim of a margarita glass.

That's because the Miss Newburgh beauty contest winner, Jeannie Wiese, may very well be a Mrs. Newburgh instead. And if it's determined she's a missus, pageant officials admit they'll be confused about what to do with their crown.

According to "Landmarks of Dutchess County" prepared by the Dutchess County Planning

Board, the home was built in 1815 for General John Armstrong, who had served as a United States senator, minister to France, and secretary of war during the War of 1812.

His daughter Margaret married William H. Astor, son of John Jacob Astor, and the financial giant bought the home from General Armstrong as a wedding present for his son.

After his father's death, William was known as the "richest man in America." It was Margaret Astor who named the estate in Red Hook "Rokeby."

The town board appointed Samuel Lore to the Recreation Commission at its regular meeting, to replace resigning member Albert Trezza.

And Mrs. Charles Richmond was appointed deputy dog warden by the board, a non-paying job. Her husband is dog warden.

Or maybe pageant officials could solve the controversy and confusion by making Jeannie Wiese a Ms. instead of a Miss or Mrs.

the City of Newburgh in the will cough up the information that she's hitched. If so, Jeannie's crown of thorns may yet set on the head of the first runner-up, 18-year-old Alice Angelone, a swimmer, bowler and antique shop-flea market buff, who lost 60 pounds not too long ago.

But pageant officials have hired an attorney to determine her marital status before deciding who will carry the city's banner in the Miss Orange County contest.

Maybe he'll find her wedding ceremony wasn't legal, as Jeannie says. And maybe some computer down in Baltimore will cough up the information that she's hitched. If so, Jeannie's crown of thorns may yet set on the head of the first runner-up, 18-year-old Alice Angelone, a swimmer, bowler and antique shop-flea market buff, who lost 60 pounds not too long ago.

Or maybe pageant officials could solve the controversy and confusion by making Jeannie Wiese a Ms. instead of a Miss or Mrs.

Hudson River Estate in Registry

RED HOOK

Rokeby, one of the many 19th century Livingston estates that line the Hudson River, will be included in the National Register of Historic Places.

The announcement was made at the Red Hook Town Board meeting this week.

According to "Landmarks of Dutchess County" prepared by the Dutchess County Planning

Board, the home was built in 1815 for General John Armstrong, who had served as a United States senator, minister to France, and secretary of war during the War of 1812.

His daughter Margaret married William H. Astor, son of John Jacob Astor, and the financial giant bought the home from General Armstrong as a wedding present for his son.

Defense Committee Launches Program

By TIM SCHUSTER

POUGHKEEPSIE — A child was officially born in Poughkeepsie Thursday and its birth may have widespread ramifications throughout the Mid-Hudson Valley.

The temporary, unincorporated Civil Service Employees' Defense Committee was launched at a press conference. It is deemed the forerunner for the permanent Civil Service Betterment Association of the Mid-Hudson, shortened to Civ-Hud.

Explaining the functions and purpose of the fledgling group was John Lawrence, special assistant to counsel Bernard Kessler of Hyde Park.

He said the Committee is intended to be solely controlled by "grass roots" members, and is a temporary association designed to last "a couple of months."

It is intended that Poughkeepsie be used as a "base group" to reach out to an area encompassing Dutchess, Ulster, Columbia, Orange, Putnam, and Rockland Counties in a "trough" between Albany and New York City, he said.

Incorporation is planned shortly and the Committee seeks to avoid partisanship politically, he added.

What prompted this organization?

Lawrence said that the general reason was, "When we got down to the local level, the checks and balances in government have no real meaning," adding that he hoped that "people who have lost hope will return" to activity.

A particular incident in the City of Poughkeepsie has also been instrumental in bringing these many people together, according to Ann Brandy Rupsis, organizing committee coordinator.

She explained that city plumb inspector William Weiss has been involved in a legal hassle after he was suspended by city manager Donald O'Hara. He was suspended on 16 charges boiling down to alleged incompetence and misconduct, and the case is now before state Supreme Court, she said.

The gripe aired by spokesmen Thursday is that Section 75 of the state Civil Service Employees Act does not give "due process under the law," said Mrs. Rupsis, and she claimed that the case mentioned is really one of "personal differences."

Charles J. Kelly, plumbing inspector for the City of Kingston for the past 15 years, stated that he fully endorsed the group and said, "I strongly urge all Civil Service Employees to join with us so that they may receive the proper legal protection they rightfully deserve if ever needed."

John Lawrence also envisioned establishment of non-governmental civic centers in Poughkeepsie, Kingston, Newburgh, and Middletown so that neutral meeting places would be available to all kinds of citizen groups that are not politically or governmentally related.

Romano Candidate for Woodstock Councilman Post

WOODSTOCK the town for six years. Actually, voters this year is the retention of Woodstock's individualistic character. "We small businesses need to be considered. Many of us have made a lifetime commitment to Woodstock. Individualism attracted most of us here, and I'm for the rights of the individual. We can't let the big business and big bureaucratic government push the little guy around."

Ned Romano of Willow has announced that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Town of Woodstock councilman when the party meets in caucus Monday at 7 p.m. at the Woodstock Town Hall.

In announcing his candidacy for the nomination, Romano said, "I've been a taxpayer in "Another serious problem," said Romano, "has been finding meaningful jobs for the diverse kinds of people who live in Woodstock. We have incredibly talented people here in town; why can't these talents be put to work?"

Romano also cited housing as a problem affecting the town, especially for the elderly, the young and serious artists. He said, "Woodstock owes its uniqueness to the marvelous random blend of people who live here. If we make it impossible for them to live here, what consideration?" Romano urged becomes of that uniqueness. "all enrolled Republicans to He also cited sewage, traffic, attend Monday's caucus.

Refuse and signs as problems Romano is a building confronting village residents, tractor, and has constructed and said zoning and master numerous homes in the plan revision are projects that Woodstock area, including require "interest, expertise, several innovative domed energy and intensely careful houses at Grog Kill in Willow.

Williams Eyes Town's Road Job

WOODSTOCK the village's streets and sewers. At one time Williams owned and operated a successful milk processing and delivery business which he sold in 1957 and owned and operated a liquor business both in Catskill and Woodstock for 12 years. Having recently sold all his interests in the liquor business, Williams said he is "looking forward to a new career where he can utilize his many abilities for the good of his friends and neighbors in Woodstock, many hundreds of which have been urging him to return to public service."

Francis G. Williams of Woodstock has announced his intention to seek the Republican nomination for superintendent of highways.

The GOP caucus is to be held Monday at 8 p.m. at Town Hall. Williams previously served as highway superintendent of the Town of Catskill for seven years, supervising 138 miles of town highways.

He was trustee of the Village of Catskill for two years during which he oversaw the construction and maintenance of

Your Horoscope

Saturday, August 18

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day and evening for you to swiftly put in motion some course of action difficult during the busy week, but possible today because you have the free time, or access to others and to places where you can pioneer in some new arrangement that can bring you tremendous advancement.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal day for planning how to gain your most cherished desires and taking the initial steps in such directions. Have any treatments necessary to improve your health. Become a more dynamic you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get into the activities that will make the future more prosperous and satisfying so you need not worry so much. Use your hunches, which are good now. Don't deliberate too much and miss out on action required.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get in touch with friends who can give you information you need and extend any favors you want. Attending some group affair can bring excellent results now. Rest in right style.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan time for pleasing higher-ups and gaining their support for the future. Situations develop that show you how to become more successful. Take it easy tonight. Enjoy kin.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) This is the right day to take that little trip to get the data that means much to you, but has been hard to get before. Make some new associate who can be helpful to you in the future. Drive with care.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Ideal day to keep promises you have made to others and add to your prestige, good credit. Don't disappoint the one you love. Show you are a thoughtful and courteous person. Gain affection.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Now that you comprehend a plan which an associate has, be sure to cooperate with him and get fine results. You have to act more quickly if you succeed where a civic matter is concerned.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) If you let fellow workers in on your plans, they will cooperate with mutually excellent results. Find the right articles to add to present wardrobe and look more modish and charming.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Being with persons at places you mutually like can make this a most interesting and delightful day. Thoughtfulness toward mate brings excellent results. Show that it is both your duty and pleasure to do so.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get busy and do those things at home that improve both the house and the harmony that should be increased there. Get rid of the cause of friction. Stop being so hardheaded and show your human side more.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Problems can be handled satisfactorily now since you are thinking clearly and logically. A good talk with regular associates improves daily routines quickly. Get your heads together early.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A good day to think over how to add to your present income appreciably so you need not worry so much about money in the future. Sit down with an influential person you know. Ask for advice, which can prove invaluable.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people whose mind is buzzing with ideas of all kinds and who wants to put them in action right now, so teach early to pick out the best ones and then plan carefully every step before doing anything about them. This will lead to success, otherwise nothing will be accomplished. Make sure you give the finest education you can afford. There can be fame here, also.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Occasionally a wealthy person has willed an inheritance to his pets. One of the most sensational pet inheritance cases, The World Almanac recalls, occurred recently when a court approved the bequest of $14,000,000 to 81 stray dogs from the estate of their spinster mistress who lived in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

CONTACT: (Q) I am 15 and Bud is 17. I have been dating him about a month and we are both good Christian kids. I have never overstayed my curfew and have always behaved myself like a lady, so my parents trust me, and have every reason to.

But tonight my father's behavior shocked both my mother and me. All of us, including Bud, were watching TV. During a commercial Bud and I got to clowning around. I was pulling the hair on his ankle and he was pretending to choke me.

My mom laughed at us but my father didn't. After Bud left, my dad forbade me to see Bud again, because of our "indecent bodily contact." Is that fair? What should I do? — Stunned in Louisiana.

(A) Your father grew up in a world in which boys and girls in the main did less clowning around than they do today. You see ankle-touching and throat-grabbing as innocent fun. He sees something else. Both of you base your opinions on your own experience, and each of you is justified in his opinion.

He waited until Bud left to talk to you. This tells me he is reasonable and that you two can probably talk openly to each other after you have cooled off.

Talk to him about this episode and about other matters on which you disagree. Bring your mother into the conversations.

Remember that your father is a male, and that he sees contact with a male viewpoint. And remember in your future contacts with boys that a touch or grab can quickly turn into something much bigger if you let it.

PLAYER: (Q) Hilda and I have been going together about six weeks. She is great. My problem is that she is on a softball team and I never get to see her. If I don't see her soon I'll go crazy. Please tell me what to do. — Lonesome in New Mexico.

(A) While Hilda is playing softball, you could sit in the stands and watch her. But she can't be playing softball all the time.

Are you sure that is the real reason she is too busy to see you? It occurs to me that she may not like you as much as you like her.

If she doesn't, don't suffer needlessly. Find a girl who likes to be with you.

Sabbatical for Video Chef

NEW YORK (AP) — It's official now. Julia Child has bid adieu to public television and won't be back this fall with new episodes of her "French Chef" series. The shows you'll see will be reruns.

It's not that she lacks an underwriter for her popular cooking show. It's just that she wants to take a break after a decade of showing viewers how to whip up Gallic eats.

"There are people who would like to underwrite new shows, but Julia's been working for 10 years straight," says a spokeswoman at Boston's WGBH-TV, where "The French Chef" is produced.

"She has a house in France and she sort of wanted to take a sabbatical," the spokeswoman said, adding that there is a possibility Miss Child might do occasional cooking specials or start her series again. She said underwriters are interested in both prospects.

"But we can't do a thing about it until she comes back after Labor Day and we've talked to her about it," the spokeswoman said. "So, there won't be a new series of 'French Chef' programs this fall."

"There might be a few specials if she likes the idea. If she decides to go back into daily production, there might be an other series but it wouldn't be ready for this fall, obviously."

Miss Child, a pleasant matter-of-fact woman, began cooking on public television Feb. 11, 1963. Since then, she's done nearly 330 shows and written several best-selling cookbooks.

Her show was in danger of going off the air last September for lack of an underwriter, which in public TV is a sponsor who pays for cost of the show but isn't allowed to surround it with commercials.

Finally, the Polaroid Corp., which had underwritten the show for three previous years, decided to do it again for the 1972-73 season when no other support seemed imminent.

Walter Cronkite, the veteran reporter and anchorman of the CBS Evening News, has been missing from that weekday show since May 28. But he's not AWOL by the network.

He's just been vacationing, courtesy of the new contract he signed this spring with CBS.

A network spokesman says the five-year contract provides for a three-month vacation each year. That is indeed a good contract.

Hijacker... a Yen for Peace

AFTERMATH — Muhammed A-Touni the Libyan who hijacked the Middle East Airlines 707 en route from Benghazi to Beirut talks to newsmen after the plane was forced to land at Lod Airport in Israel. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

TEL AVIV (UPI) — A 37-year-old Libyan, his yearning for peace buoyed by four whiskies, hijacked an Arab jetliner to Israel Thursday because he said he wanted to help the cause of peace.

Armed with two pistols he said he bought in Alexandria, Egypt, Mohamed A-Touni diverted the Lebanese Middle East Airways plane to Tel Aviv's Lod International Airport on a flight from Benghazi, Libya, to Beirut.

On the runway, Israeli security officers entered the plane through a hatch underneath and overpowered A-Touni from behind. Not a shot was fired.

Police said A-Touni would appear in a Jerusalem court later today where authorities would seek a court order sending him back to jail until charges can be brought against him.

None of the 119 persons aboard the Boeing 707 was injured. They slid down the plane's emergency chute and were given refreshments in the airport's lounge until their plane continued its flight to Beirut five hours later.

When the pilot of the MEA plane radioed a request to land at Lod, Israel put elaborate security precautions into effect to protect against a feared suicide mission in which the plane would crash in the middle of Tel Aviv.

The truth turned to be somewhat more bizarre. "I did what I did because I wanted the Israelis to know that not all Arabs are bad," A-Touni told newsmen at the airport's VIP lounge. "Not all of them want to cast you (Israelis) into the sea... I want the Arabs and the Jews to live together in peace."

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir said A-Touni was a "a drunk and deranged boy with two pistols" who "will be our guest for awhile."

Minor Cambodian Clash

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — American jets made passes over Phnom Penh and an official of Prince Norodom Sihanouk's exile government claimed the bombing was still going on.

Both warplanes one of them a Phantom F4 fighter-bomber, were apparently on reconnaissance missions. The U.S. air war in Cambodia officially ended Wednesday but Washington has said reconnaissance flights will continue over the country.

In Paris, a minister in Sihanouk's exile cabinet said the "so-called American reconnaissance planes are continuing their dirty work by occasionally dropping on our country their bomb loads."

Chau Seng, minister of external missions in Sihanouk's Royal National Cambodia Union, told newsmen: "This bombing and these operations will remain secret or will later be justified by supposed 'Communist provocations.'"

In Phnom Penh, high command spokesman Col. Am Rong said the past 24 hours "has been marked by a large-cut diminution of enemy activities."

He said only one minor flare-up was reported near Takmau, four miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

Am Rong also denied Communist reports that South Vietnam has sent 10,000 troops into Cambodia to support the Lon Nol government's fight against rebel forces. He said he heard the report on the radio today and stated firmly: "It is not true."

Am Rong was referring to a charge leveled in Paris Thursday by Viet Cong Minister of State Nguyen Van Hieu that Saigon "has already sent to Cambodia some 10,000... soldiers disguised as volunteers to be used as mercenaries in the pay of the United States."

In Saigon, government spokesman Bui Bao Truc today likewise dismissed Hieu's charge.

Chavez Worker Slain

LAMONT, Calif. (UPI) — One of the original followers of United Farm Workers Union leader Cesar Chavez was killed by sniper's gunfire Thursday as he left the picket line at a table grape ranch.

Chavez, visibly shaken by the slaying, said that if such violence continued he would call off all pickets in the San Joaquin Valley. "We're not going to have our people shot," he said as he toured the area.

The UFW was striking 28 ranches which recently signed contracts with the Teamsters Union. The two unions are locked in a battle for farm worker representation.

Juan Delacruz, who had worked for Chavez since 1965, died at Kern General Hospital in Bakersfield where he was taken after a slug ripped into his chest near his heart. Two Filipino workers, Bayani Advincula, 20, and Ernest Baclig, 64, were arrested after witnesses reported the license number of the sniper car.

This was the first fatality near a struck ranch in the union struggle. However, on Wednesday a UFW member died from injuries suffered when he became engaged in a scuffle with a Kern County Sheriff's deputy outside a tavern here.

A memorial service will be held today in nearby Delano—birthplace of the UFW—for Naji Daifullah, 24, who suffered the fatal injuries in the fight with the deputy. A UFW spokesman said picketing would be halted during the 1½-mile procession from the mortuary to union headquarters where Daifullah will be eulogized by Chavez.

Chavez also called for a three-day fast by union members on Monday to repudiate violence.

Allende Crisis

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Personnel at the U.S. Embassy remained on an evacuation alert ordered Wednesday after pipe bombs were discovered and dismantled in the driveways of three embassy employees.

Troops seized the trucks after the owner-drivers ignored an ultimatum to end their walkout by 4 p.m. Thursday. Allende swore he would requisition all 45,000 idled vehicles unless the strikers complied with the order.

The strike has paralyzed truck transportation and has threatened vital parts of the Chilean economy, already beset by grave difficulties.

Truckers had let out the air from most of the tires of the trucks seized Thursday and removed engine parts to make the vehicles inoperable. The army said the trucks will eventually be towed to Santiago after court authorization is obtained.
